THREE YOUNGSTERS DIE IN BLAZE AT SURREY

SURREY (UPI)—Three young children, the eldest four, died today as the result of a fire which swept through the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Neureuther in this suburban Vancouver community.

A spokesman for the Royal Columbian Hospital said all three children were dead on arrival at the hospital.

Dead were two Neureuther children, Brenda, 2, and William, 4. The other child was 14-month-old Brian, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Crockett, neighbors of the Neureuthers. The Crockett infant had been left at the Neureuther home, while Mrs. Crockett was at work in Vancouver. Neureuther was at work at the time of the fire, while his wife had left their home for a brief period to take another child to kindergarten.

Rivard's Wife Hazy About Loan Return

MONTREAL (CP)—Mrs. Marie Rivard, 32-year-old wife of suspected narcotics smuggler Lucien Rivard, testified today she does not remember exactly when she paid back the $60,000 she had raised as her husband's bail.

She told the Dorion inquiry she withdrew the money in $1,000 bills from the Royal Trust Company around Sept. 20 and went to Montreal's Place Ville Marie and put it in a safety deposit box in the Ville Marie Trust.

She said she went to Ste. Eustache and paid back the $15,000 she had borrowed from a bank there.

She had returned $20,000 to Ovide (Dave) Gagnon, a gatekeeper at her husband's resort. She did not have any idea when she had returned this money, because she was "so anxious" to give it back.

She had returned $17,000 to Bill Lamy, a grocer, but she did not know whether it was the same day.

She had also given $6,000 to Gerry Turcotte, her husband's business partner at the Plage Ideale resort.

Mrs. Rivard said she paid interest to the bank, but she did not know what amount. She had given Lamy $200 in interest at the same rate as the bank, but she did not remember the amount.

Canada, U.S. To Sign Free Trade Car Pact

AUSTIN, Tex. (CP)—Formal agreement on a U.S.-Canadian free trade arrangement for automobiles and parts will probably be announced later today when Prime Minister Pearson visits President Johnson at his Texas ranch.

External Affairs Minister Martin, U.S. State Secretary Rusk and White House aide McGeorge Bundy have been added to the informal overnight get-together. Johnson's press secretary, George Reedy, told reporters.

Reedy said there may be some announcement later today and there will be some discussion of the auto arrangement, under negotiation since last summer, but he declined to say definitely that the announcement will concern autos.

He said the inclusion of Martin and Rusk "probably has to do with the desire to talk more about the auto arrangement."

The prime minister and Mrs.

Thirsting For Holiness

LOS ANGELES (AP)—D. C. McClelland, a professor of psychology at Harvard, has come up with what may be a new answer to the age-old question: Why do people drink?

Says McClelland: "People drink because of a 'hunger for holiness.'"

John D. Shrugs Off 'Hypothetical' Report

OTTAWA (UPI) — Opposition leader John Diefenbaker said today he had nothing to say on demands by his 10 Quebec members for a national leadership convention.

At the same time, he indicated he had no intention of resigning. "I have no information on this other than what I hear on the radio or read in the newspaper," Diefenbaker declared. "I haven't heard anything—no one has been in touch with me."

Pressed for comment on the demands for a leadership convention, Diefenbaker retorted: "The matter is hypothetical."

"I made clear my views (on resigning) when I arrived back from my holidays," he added. "They are completely unchanged in every way."

At that time the opposition leader declared he had "no idea

Auto Workers Call Strike; 10,000 Out

TORONTO (CP)—About 10,000 United Auto Workers (UAW) went on strike at Ford Motor Company of Canada plants in four Ontario centres today.

Workers at Oakville, Windsor, Welland and the Toronto suburb of North York struck officially at the 2 p.m. deadline set by the union last week in the absence of agreement on a new work contract.

A new offer by Ford earlier in the day came too late to avert the strike, a union spokesman said. The latest company offer was being studied by union leaders here as the deadline arrived.

"Mister England," folks called him in his finest hour and never have so many owed so much.

Doubt if even men at his orneriest can out-tantrum ol' Mother Nature on a rampage!

Are the Tories about to show us what happens when the irresistible force meets the immovable object?

By JOYCE FAIRBAIRN Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — A unanimous Quebec Conservative caucus has called for a leadership convention as the price of party unity.

It was a direct challenge to Opposition leader John Diefenbaker.

Leon Balcer, 47, backed by a vote of confidence as Quebec Conservative leader, wants an answer and the date for a convention from Tory national president Dalton K. Camp before the parliamentary session resumes Feb. 16.

Balcer and his nine Quebec colleagues yesterday issued their demands after weeks and months of uncertainty within their own ranks, and a dramatic eleventh hour decision.

It delayed for the time being any plan for Balcer and some followers to bolt the party to sit as independents.

Their path led from a posh suite in Montreal's Windsor Hotel, over icy roads in sub-zero weather back to Ottawa, and finally into the parliamentary gallery where Balcer issued the results of the day's caucus as the others stood quietly behind him.

At the end of the caucus Balcer met briefly with Camp to inform him of the results. Camp had flown into Montreal from Halifax where earlier this week he held discussions with veteran Tory member George Nowlan, Senator Wallace McIntosh and New Brunswick Premier Robert Stanfield, all of whom have been touted as possible future national Tory leaders.

Balcer denied reports that he had been closeted with Camp prior to the caucus, but said he had been in touch with him and other national party officials by phone recently.

By implication the Quebec Tories said that John Diefenbaker had limited tenure as their national leader and must stand, if he wished, against other contenders at a duly constituted convention.

A formal letter to this effect was to be sent to Camp today. Diefenbaker's name was not mentioned in the communiqué delivered last night, but newsmen were told by Balcer to "draw your own conclusions."

Theo Ricard, who is Diefenbaker's strongest force within the Quebec wing, said: "We are

BULLETIN

LONDON (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill was stricken with a blood clot in the brain today and a medical bulletin tonight said he is slipping into deeper sleep.

The bulletin added that the 90-year-old wartime prime minister was suffering no pain.

Text of the bulletin: "There has been little change in Sir Winston's condition during the day."

"He is slipping into deeper sleep and is not conscious of pain or discomfort."

"A further bulletin will be issued at noon on Saturday."

The bulletin was signed "Moran"—Lord Moran, Sir Winston's 82-year-old personal physician for many years.

LONDON (Reuters) — Sir Winston Churchill, Britain's wartime leader, suffered a stroke today at his London home.

Two physicians who examined the 90-year-old statesman described his illness as a cerebral thrombosis.

There was no indication whether it was a major stroke or a minor one.

A further medical bulletin on Churchill's condition will be issued later tonight.

The two physicians, Lord Moran, Churchill's personal doctor for 25 years, and Lord Brain, a leading neurologist, said the statesman had developed circulatory weakness following a cold.

The frail and aged former prime minister, who was 90 Nov. 30, had been unwell for the last few days.

Churchill's actress daughter, Sarah, telephoned London from Rome today to ask about her father and, late this afternoon, boarded a flight for home. But the plane developed mechanical trouble and had to turn back.

Other members of his family gathered at Churchill's London home this morning when the first news of his illness was made public.

A cerebral thrombosis is commonly called a stroke. A medical authority explained that its seriousness depends on the size of the stroke, its site and the area of the brain affected.

Dr. Harley Williams, director of Britain's Chest and Heart Association, which runs a special stroke rehabilitation service, said a stroke of the kind suffered by Churchill (cerebral thrombosis) is extremely serious in a person of any age.

"But one cannot say that it is more serious in Sir Winston's case, because he has remarkable vitality," Williams said.

"In a person over 90, though, the powers of recuperation are not very great."

Callers jam switchboards

News of the gravity of Churchill's illness quickly jammed switchboards of newspaper offices in London with anxious inquiries from all over Britain and from the Continent.

The narrow street outside Churchill's Hyde Park Gate residence quickly filled with reporters, photographers, television crews and sightseers.

Churchill's youngest daughter Mary, and her husband, Christopher Soames, who was minister of agriculture in the last Conservative government, hurried through the crowd into the house.

Both were grim-faced when they left an hour later.

Mrs. Soames, asked by reporters about her father's condition, did not reply. Her face puckered and she put out her hands in a sorrowful gesture.

Churchill's last public appearance was on his birthday last November when he appeared at the window of his home. Hundreds of persons who had waited in the rain for hours got a glimpse of the indomitable statesman.

Accidents and illnesses, particularly pleurisy and pneumonia, plagued Churchill during his career.

At the height of the Second World War, after the Tehran conference between him, Roosevelt and Stalin, Churchill will try to recover the last three of seven bodies from homes tossed and broken by Wednesday's killer snowslide.

Officials and RCMP in this company town, 300 miles up the Pacific coast from Vancouver, said more snow could be loosed by steady rain.

But lacking any measures to stop it, the 3,000 residents were sent back to their kitchens, schools, and jobs at the Crown Zellerbach Canada Limited plant.

Their warning of any new trouble will be six blasts from an RCMP siren above the townsite manager's office, which maintains radio communication with all parts of the stricken community.

The same wet weather, followed by a snowstorm, is expected to hit the area.

The new scheme of higher prizes and fewer classes was tried on a pilot scheme last year and produced an enthusiastic response from both the exhibitors and spectators. In the new prize list, the government matches money put up by the fairs in the two main classes.

The fairs mainly affected are the 130 in the "A" and "B" categories.

"Spectator interest has dwindled, due principally, I think, to the fact that at many shows we have just had too many classes and it takes too long to do the judging."

The minister's plan, which was tried out experimentally last year at five fairs, consists of cutting down on the number of livestock classes judged at fairs and increasing prizes for the winners. The new judging is aimed at recognizing utility.

The meeting was given de-calling for a convention. We have not said Mr. Diefenbaker must go. As Mr. Balcer said, draw your own conclusions."

Although Diefenbaker holds down the job of leader, which was reaffirmed by rank and file party delegates to the annual party meeting last February, Balcer said there was nothing in the party constitution which prohibited an executive decision on a leadership convention.

Diefenbaker had no comment to make on the communiqué and was scheduled to leave for his home constituency of Prince Albert tonight.

Camp also had no comment until he receives the letter, but did say there was no need to call a full-scale executive meeting to discuss Balcer's stand because there were other ways to gain a consensus. He said it was "unprecedented" for a leadership convention to be held while the office was occupied.

Although the Quebec caucus did not set any time limit for a leadership convention—the minimum would be 66 days—Balcer said it must come before the next election. His personal opinion is that no national vote will be called before the second half of 1966.

"NO RIFT LIKELY"

RIVARD

told her that he did not trust her.

Mr. Daoust testified earlier in the hearings that Masson was leading Mrs. Rivard down the garden path and that Masson was peddling non-existent influence.

Mrs. Rivard said Mr. Daoust did not give her the telephone number of Montreal lawyer Pierre Lamontagne at Chicoutimi, Que., where he was on holidays.

She said she didn't tell Mr. Daoust that bail had been arranged for her husband. There had been no mention of Mr. Lamontagne.

Mr. Lamontagne acting for the United States government which is trying to have Rivard extradited to Texas to face narcotics-smuggling charges, has testified to attempted bribery and coercion by federal ministerial aides to have him agree to bail for Rivard.

SUBJECTED TO THREATS

Mr. Lamontagne has said he was subjected to threats of blackmail by telephone late one night in July when he was on holiday in Chicoutimi.

The inquiry's hearing Thursday was enlivened by the dramatic entrance of Mrs. Rivard, a key witness.

Mrs. Rivard testified that at her husband's suggestion she went to see Raymond Rouleau, brother of Liberal MP Guy Rouleau, to find out why Canada could not extradite Hal Banks, deposed SIU boss who jumped bail from the United States, yet the United States was going to extradite her husband. Both men had been charged with conspiracy.

She said this meeting occurred in the last week of July or the first week of August and she called Raymond Rouleau daily after that for about a month.

"At times he thought I was calling too often and said 'If I get any news, Mrs. Rivard, I'll call, you.'"

"NOTHING NEW"

"He always told me there is nothing new, wait and be patient. . . . She said she never got any answer from Raymond Rouleau and had never seen nor spoken to Guy Rouleau, who resigned Nov. 24 as parliamentary secretary to prime minister saying he had made "normal" representations in the Rivard case.

At another point, Mrs. Rivard testified that during fortnightly visits to her husband in Bordeaux Jail she never told him about efforts of Masson or Gignac to get help from an extradition expert. However, she said she wasn't sure of that point.

She said she thought she had told her husband about collecting the $60,000 for his bail but could not remember that either.

"I was so upset when I went to see him and so glad to see him all I could see was my husband."

In reply to questions by Jules Deschenes, counsel for the federal government, Mrs. Rivard said she did nothing to raise bail for her husband when he was arrested last February. Lechasseur had looked after this and a Mr. Brochu, who had a restaurant and a brother, who was an alderman, had put up the bail money.

There was no testimony at this point about what charge Rivard was arrested on in February.

Mr. Deschenes asked whether there was a special reason for Mrs. Rivard to raise bail when her husband was arrested in June.

She said she found it all tiring, but it was natural for her to raise the bail.

She didn't remember whether Lechasseur had offered his services.

Mrs. Rivard said she was married to Rivard April 22, 1961.

MET IN DECEMBER

In reply to questions by commission counsel Desjardins, Mrs. Rivard said she and Lechasseur had a meeting in December with Masson after she had found out there would be an inquiry into the Rivard case.

felt he would have a good measure of support from his fellow officers and Tories in various provinces for a convention. He did not feel that his stand would open up any national French-English clash in the party.

If the executive agrees to Balcer's ultimatum a major crisis will have been averted in the party.

The night before the caucus a decision to pull away into an independent Quebec wing was all but fixed in the minds of at least four members.

Last night members of the same rebel wing made it clear that this feeling would be quickly revived and carried out if the conditions were not met.

They will caucus again before Feb. 16 to re-assess their positions.

One of the most positive statements from the new conference came from Montreal member George Valade who said:

"We are trying to keep the Conservative party as a national party. We don't want to split it."

WOULD BALZER RUN?

Balcer would not say whether he would consider running in any leadership convention.

He was asked what his stand would be if Diefenbaker contested such a convention and won. He declined to answer on the grounds that the question was "purely hypothetical," but stressed that there would be more than one person running for the party leadership.

What Balcer's communiqué did was:

• "Unanimously" agree to the letter to Camp asking for a date "for a national convention to decide on the party leadership."

• "Unanimously" support Balcer as Quebec Leader.

• "Unanimously" support the historic principles of the Macdonald-Cartier traditions of the Tory party.

• Recognize the "honest and sincere" measures initiated by the party to strengthen national unity.

• "Determine" to solve the party difficulties from within with the co-operation of Tory colleagues from other provinces.

They also want a review by the party of its policy and goals in the "spirit of Frederickton" where the Tories held their summer "thinkers" conference.

Balcer defined this "spirit" as a "very good expose of policy for a national party in regard to French-English relations."

RIVARD HEARING POSTPONED

MONTREAL (CP) — The case of Lucien Rivard, wanted in the United States to face charges of smuggling narcotics, was postponed today to next Friday.

The U.S. government seeks to extradite Rivard and three others.

Judge Francois Caron granted the postponement of arguments on the merits of a writ of habeas corpus after the defence argued it needs more time to consider the facts at stake.

He said final arguments definitely will be heard next Friday and judgment will be rendered "before the end of the month."

Nuclear Ban Drive Set By Johnson

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Lyndon Johnson asked Congress today for increased funds to step up U.S. efforts in the disarmament field.

Administration officials said Johnson would continue to press the Soviet Union for agreements to curb spread of nuclear weapons to more nations, limit certain military production and broaden the nuclear test ban.

In a special message to Congress the president asked for a four-year authorization of $50 million to run the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency (ACDA).

Congress gave the agency $9 million for the current year, although the administration had requested $15 million. The new funds would be for fiscal year 1966, which begins next July 1, through fiscal 1969.

FULTON MUM ON DIF CHALLENGE

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP) — Davie Fulton, leader of the British Columbia Progressive Conservative party, said Thursday night he has "not very much" reaction to Leon Balcer's proposal for a national party leadership convention.

Mr. Balcer, Quebec Conservative leader, said in Ottawa earlier he wants a convention to discuss the leadership of John Diefenbaker.

"Mr. Balcer has put it to the national executive, and it is not going to help for individuals to comment," said Mr. Fulton.

"I hope that when the decision is taken at the national executive level, it will be such as to restore unity in the party."

"This is a party, not a collection of individuals."

U.S. Pushing Showdown Over UN Fees

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — The United States is preparing for a confrontation with Russia on the U.N. financial issue and is lining up support for a general assembly vote, informed sources said today.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson met for two hours Thursday with the 21-nation

Latin American group. The meeting's chairman, Sergio Sepulveda of Chile, said he discussed the crisis and the "grave and serious" consequences if the Soviets continue to refuse payment of their U.N. debts.

The sources said Stevenson told the Latin Americans the United States is ready to confront the Russians in the general assembly "in order to assure the future of the world organization—its moral and financial solvency."

U.S. officials would make no comment on the possibility of a confrontation or the degree of backing the United States could expect if it tried to force the Soviets to choose between payment of their U.N. debts or loss of their general assembly vote.

But there was a growing movement among other delegations to head off such an East-West collision. Many diplomats feared it might cause a Soviet walkout and signal the breakup of the United Nations.

Many smaller nations were backing a plan to adjourn the general assembly shortly after it reconvenes Monday. A few items of necessary business would be transacted first. Then the whole business of the United Nations would be put off until September.

... NEW AVALANCHES FEARED

Following unprecedented December snows, knocked out roads and railroads Thursday in widely separated areas of British Columbia.

At midnight Thursday, only rail transportation remained between Vancouver and the rest of Canada. The southern trans-provincial highway—still was blocked by Saturday's giant mountain slide which killed four persons.

A new slide hit the Fraser Canyon, severing the other highway route through the interior. Fog closed down the Vancouver International Airport.

The Ocean Falls avalanche, plunging in a swath 300 feet wide, hurled two duplex homes down the steep slope of Caro Mountain into a printing shop, credit union office and jewelry store.

The site was described by accountant Terry McKenna, 31, as once a "pleasant hillside, with homes" and now a "dirty, muddy river running through a muddy scar."

The 4,200-foot mountain stands above a narrow string of homes on both sides of the slide site. They form one arm of the horseshoe-shaped town that surrounds an inlet 40 miles from the open Pacific.

BOUGHT ALL NIGHT

Crews were in the area all night, searching under floodlights for the bodies of John Dicker, 35, his wife Ella, 32, and their son Craig, seven.

The bodies of Mrs. Reginald Hill, 45, Walter Gordon Taylor, 42, Agnes McDowell, 56, and Craig Dicker's four-year-old brother Mark, were recovered.

Doug Diggins, who lived on the edge of the main slide's path, said it pushed in his back porch, knocked in the front door, and sent debris halfway across his living room.

"My wife and son jumped 10 feet from our kitchen window and landed safely," he said. "I jumped on ice and broke my ankle."

Clare Langdale and his family were trapped for half an hour on one side of the same duplex where others died. Said his 17-year-old son Bob:

HEARD RATTLING
"I heard a tremendous rattling and I looked out the window, but there was no wind. The next thing I knew I was flat up against the wall. Then my father and I were sitting under the attic roof, and mother a few feet away in the basement."

District Magistrate Harvey Jessop of Kitimat was in town for the preliminary hearing of a murder case. The hearing was postponed when witnesses could not be flown in because of the rain.

He had to wait for the arrival of the coastal vessel Northland Prince Thursday morning to get home.

He said he got up from an "after-dinner snooze" to confusion all around him at the Martin Inn, a hotel already preparing for evacuees.

About half the 200 families who originally moved out of their homes returned Thursday.

Indonesia Minister Talks Peace

JAKARTA (UPI) — Foreign Minister Subandrio said today the dispute with Malaysia cannot be resolved by war. He said Indonesia was prepared to hold peace talks with the federation "immediately."

Subandrio's comments echoed similar statements Thursday by President Sukarno.

(Malaysian Premier Tengku Abdul Rahman said he did not believe Sukarno wanted a peaceful solution. But he added: "If Sukarno can convince me he wants nothing but peace, I would be happy to welcome his terms." Deputy Premier-Defence Minister Abdul Razak also expressed skepticism.

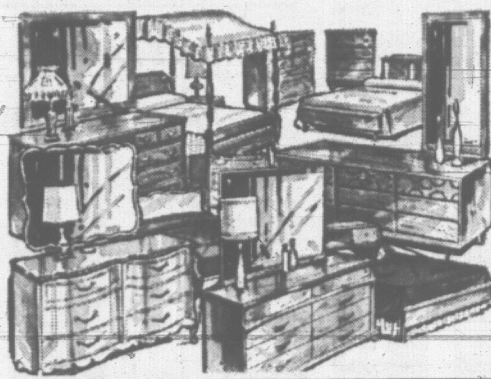

(Rahman told Malaysian lull us into a state of unpreparedness," Rahman said. "We will spare no money, time or energy in strengthening our defences.")

No Need for Delay

GREATER VICTORIA AND Saanich Peninsula residents deserve much better treatment from Highways Minister Gagliardi than to be told for the fourth year in a row that nothing is going to be done about the highway to Swartz Bay.

The people of this area can hardly be happy either to learn that Premier Bennett was scornful of the bid for a better road made in the brief submitted by the B.C. Automobile Association. "That's a good highway and it only takes 32 minutes," the premier said of a road that claimed six lives in accidents last year.

When they look across to the Vancouver area and see how millions of dollars have been lavished on freeways and superhighways to provide fast, safe access to the metropolitan area from almost every direction they can't help but wonder at the pitiful and dangerous state of the main Victoria entrance.

If Mr. Gagliardi hopes to excuse his inaction by invoking the old argument that reconstruction must wait until there has been a decision on placement of main traffic arteries leading north from Victoria through Saanich, he should check with his colleague in the legislature, Saanich Social Credit MLA John Tisdalle. Mr. Tisdalle has pointed out with logic that nothing has prevented a start being made on the highway from Swartz Bay as far south as Royal Oak at least.

If a start had been made on the northern stretch of road three years ago, when it was perfectly evident that it was going to have to be reconstructed to handle the heavy traffic load increase, that part of the project would now be completed. The remaining stretch of highway into the urban area could have been completed once an urban route decision was made.

That delay along with a further delay this year can only mean that when the program finally gets under way the flow of traffic to and from Victoria will be disrupted for an extended period of time.

No Room for Gratitude

THE RUN ON GOLD WHICH was halted only by the most determined efforts of the United States government last week has raised conjectures among financial experts as to how sincere certain European governments are in their desire to co-operate in maintaining international monetary stability.

France in particular is pointed to as an example of a country which may be speaking one way and acting quite differently. President de Gaulle's decision to convert $150 millions of France's foreign exchange fund from American dollars into gold right after the pound sterling crisis is cited as the main factor in starting the run on gold. The move was regarded in American government circles as definitely provocative since news of the French government's intention was deliberately leaked to the press and alerted the speculators.

The key to the situation seems to be that most European countries are now rich enough that they believe maintenance of the dollar and the pound as the chief international currencies is no longer logical. President de Gaulle recently urged, unsuccessfully, that a new unit be chosen for international payment which would better reflect the reality of the current situation in which the United States and Britain are both debtor nations.

In a sense the United States is now getting back what it gave in the way of advice during the years of post-war reconstruction in Europe. At that time the United States was running a large surplus in its international accounts and never hesitated to lecture the debtor nations on the need for monetary disciplines. Now the situation is reversed, America has a deficit in international payments and is given righteous discourses on the need for orthodox monetary policies.

This may seem extremely ungrateful since it was the United States which most generously gave of its wealth to aid in the rebuilding of Europe and provided more of its wealth to protect it during the days when Soviet Russia seemed poised to sweep through to the Atlantic Ocean.

But there is little place in international finance, or politics, for feelings of gratitude over help received in the past. Decisions are dictated by stern realities; in this case the fact that the Europeans believe the United States dollar is no longer as sound as it was and there is, therefore, a need to protect their own financial position.

By Comparison, We're Lucky

IT IS A SOURCE OF CONCERN to the Greater Victoria School Board that its energetic postwar construction program has provided little more than the accommodation needed almost immediately by the continually growing school population.

The board, generally speaking, keeps up with the demand but lacks leeway. This means that essential priorities have prevented it from moving as quickly as might be desired on replacement of old, obsolescent if not obsolete, buildings. They, presumably, will be replaced in the near future, once arrangements have been reached with the city over siting new structures to take the place of such schools as North Ward and South Park.

It is proper that this community, and its education board should show its existing concern. If there is any solace in the thought that many other areas are worse off, the trustees might turn their attention to the report on "slum schools" in Britain. There, it is stated, nearly three-quarters of the existing state schools are "unsatisfactory." Thousands are without proper heating and plumbing and some even without electricity.

Greater Victoria has its problems in providing accommodation, but apparently this region is fortunate in comparison to Britain. Nevertheless there are no grounds for complacency here.

'... The Candle Throws His Beams'

BRIEFLY THIS WEEK THE spotlight on Africa turned from the violence of man against man to an example of help for the helpless on the 90th birthday of Dr. Albert Schweitzer.

There are many who criticize the man of music and medicine who has chosen to practice in the Dark Continent and whose hospital in Lambarene has earned international renown. The doctor, rightly or wrongly, seems impervious to the criticism.

On his birthday he had justification for the methods and philosophy he follows. It was furnished by the crowds who came from far and near to pay their tribute to him for the help he has furnished, ministering to the ailing in the way he has chosen and declines to change.

FROM OTTAWA

An Injunction to Export or Slump

By MAURICE WESTERN

EXPORT or slump is the core of the message addressed to the nation by the Economic Council of Canada in its first report. The dimensions of our problem (and a good deal of advice on how to solve it) are set out in two chapters which deserve to be read together; the first dealing with trade and international payments, the second with prices and monetary trends.

There are a number of factors which ought to work in our favor in the next five years. Thus the council assumes in its projections that world-trade will continue to expand rapidly and that the performance of the United States and United Kingdom, our most important markets, will be substantially better than the recent period. Furthermore, our exports, especially of manufactured goods, have during the current expansion shown a striking improvement.

On the other hand, we can expect trouble in various directions. In times of high activity, imports have tended to increase faster than exports; recent experience to the contrary being attributable mainly to the devaluation of the Canadian dollar. The prospect is that the present moderate trade surplus may by 1970 become a small deficit. On the other hand we have had a steadily widening deficit since the last century in international receipts and payments for services. A continuation of this trend will mean a deficit in our current accounts payments of $1.5 to $2 billion by 1970.

Throughout our history we have planned our main reliance on exports of primary products and industrial materials. In recent years we have actually increased our share of the world market for such goods. But unfortunately it is this part of the market which is growing most slowly.

While the export of food and raw materials will remain important, it cannot provide the answer to our trade problem. As the rich get richer a relatively small part of their increased income goes for food. Moreover, our rich customers show a disconcerting tendency to increase industrial output faster than consumption of raw material due to the complex phenomenon known as "materials saving" (which involves, for example, improved technology, increased use of synthetics and scrap, and the changing nature of defence equipment).

The council is in no doubt whatever that we must now look primarily to the expansion of processed and manufactured exports. This is a task of urgency demanding industrial rationalization and specialization, higher technical efficiency and productivity, intelligent trade promotion, attention to methods of achieving higher stages of processing in Canada and, emphatically, attention to prices and costs.

To be more specific, our trade negotiators in the Kennedy Round must concentrate on winning access to international markets for our manufactured products. This means a new chapter in our commercial history for up to now the emphasis, naturally enough, has been upon new openings for our food and raw materials.

Freer Capital Markets

With a view to facilitating increased exports, the council urges Canadian industry give more attention to direct investment abroad. In the same breath it offers some advice which may not be altogether palatable to some eminent figures in Ottawa. "We consider it to be both important and desirable from the standpoint of Canada's economic interests to work along with other countries towards the achievement of freer capital markets and avoidance of discriminatory and arbitrary impediments to international capital movements."

Costs are of obvious importance if we are to achieve the necessary levels of export while escaping serious balance of payments difficulties in the coming years of intensified competition. The problem of control is aggravated by the fact that we cannot insulate our economy against price movements abroad, especially in the United States.

The council accepts the changes of the past decade as tolerable. The tendency has been for consumer prices and prices of all goods and services to advance annually at average rates of about 1.4 and 2.0 per cent. If we do no worse in the next five years, we will enjoy a "satisfactory degree of price and cost stability."

But this is much less comforting than it may appear at first glance. For it must be borne in mind that over most of the past decade, we have had relatively high unemployment and economic slack. The council repeatedly emphasizes its view that the difficulties of this period were aggravated by the failure to contain price and cost increases during the inflationary period following the Second World War.

The reasonable stability of 1961-62 is attributable largely to the fact that there was so much slack to be taken up. As the economy reaches higher levels of activity, there is a danger that price increases will become more general. We face this problem: that we can achieve the goals set for us by the council only if the price performance in the next five years of dramatic expansion is as good as it was in the sluggish decade through which we have lived.

It is permissible to doubt that the dimensions of the tasks have been appreciated up to now, either by government or by industry and labor. That this doubt troubles the council is clear enough from its report.

There have also been some disturbing trends.

"It is disconcerting to note that during the last decade prices of very few individual items declined, in spite of important productivity gains in certain fields and greater and more prolonged weakness in demand than at any time since the 1930s. Such developments... are symptomatic of a situation of insufficient flexibility and adaptability to changing circumstances in the economy."

The flexibility which has been lacking in these years is another condition for the successful attainment of the goals set by the council.

Flexibility

In respect to fiscal policy, the report accepts the view that in times of slack a budgetary deficit is normally appropriate. But it is quite as emphatic in stating the politically less palatable converse: that "if the economy were to encounter shortages and bottlenecks, leading to inflationary pressures, a budgetary surplus would normally be appropriate."

The same balance is observable in its comments upon monetary policy. A rising level of economic activity must certainly be accompanied by an increase in the supply of money or the velocity of circulation or both. But the report is also careful to warn that "if the economy encounters widespread shortages and bottlenecks, an undue expansion of the money supply would result in an inflationary price rise, frustrate the objective of maintaining reasonable stability of prices, and may adversely affect the balance of payments."

As Our Readers See It

Why All the Fuss?

It greatly amuses me reading of so many of our church organizations petitioning against the sale of liquor in the McPherson Theatre. I wonder how many of those who signed go to other than church socials for their entertainment? It would also be interesting to know, should other organizations petition for liquor sale in the theatre, which way the vote would go?

I cannot see the harm of a social drink with friends during the intermission of five to 10 minutes. Why all the fuss?

P. PLAYNE

A Good Samgritan

It was during the 4:30 rush hour traffic. The little group of pre-school age children, including two tricycles, stood hesitatingly by the crosswalk in front of Lansdowne Junior Secondary School. A car heading east-stopped and a man got out. Holding up the west-bound traffic while his empty car held up east-bound traffic, he shepherd the little group across the street.

It was an example to us all.

Degrading Travesties

I hope your correspondent, Mr. A. P. Rainey, will receive wide public commendation for his public criticism of the so-called modern art of our day. All too long the purveyors of these "meaningless daubs," as he charitably dubs these weird productions, have been allowed to foist their perverted views and unintelligible monstrosities upon a suffering public without serious challenge.

My principal objection to this allegedly surrealist or professedly modern art is not merely because much of it strikes me as the abortion of some drunken moron's nightmare, but because, through the Canada Council, the public pocket is being pilfered to subsidize the producers of these degrading travesties on reality and beauty.

If these inartistic paupers must beg for financial support, let them do so "on their own," but let us object most strenuously to the misuse of our hard-earned tax dollars to encourage production of their insanities.

"I DON'T SEE WHY YA FIRED THAT LAST BITTER. SHE MADE THE BEST CHEESEBURGERS I EVER ATE!"

Nonsense on U.S. Defence

By JOSEPH ALSOP
from Washington

A GREAT deal of nonsense is being talked about the continuous future shrinkage of the U.S. defence budget—at least if President Lyndon Johnson does not wish to repeat the big mistake that so gravely marred President Harry Truman's otherwise remarkable record.

The circumstances are not absolutely dissimilar, for there is very little doubt that the prime cause of Harry S. Truman's big mistake was the new self-confidence inspired by being elected president in his own right in 1948. The mistake was to cease to take the cold war seriously and to cut the defence budget to ribbons. The result was the Korean War.

In the case of President Johnson, the test of his real intention about defence policy will come, perhaps fortunately for him, only after another year has gone by. The test will be whether he decides to pay the heavy bill—perhaps as much as $40 billion over a period of years—to give the United States an effective anti-ballistic missile defence system.

Next year is the test's due-date, because the Defence Department's brilliant Nike-X development program will then reach the stage of large-scale contracting for hardware. When that time comes, it is going to be vastly more difficult for President Johnson to reject the Nike-X program than it was for President John Kennedy to reject Nike-Zeus.

President Kennedy's rejection of Nike-Zeus, though much criticized at the time, was undoubtedly wise. This first effective American anti-ballistic missile is a good weapon, but it has the grave defects that are normal in first essays in new kinds of weaponry.

Specifically, Nike-Zeus can be easily "foiled" by decoys attached to an attacker's ballistic missiles, and it is not capable of warding off a saturation attack. For just these reasons, President Kennedy overruled the U.S. Army, which wished to spend $10 billion on Nike-Zeus deployment, and instead ordered development of the vastly more advanced Nike-X.

Nike-X is like Nike-Zeus in being a point defence weapon, as all anti-ballistic missiles must almost certainly be for some time to come. But novel radar and other systems, now almost completely tested with striking success, protect Nike-X from "fooling" by decoy devices. And this crucial improvement, plus much greater speed and other advantages, makes a Nike-X defence system fully capable of dealing with a saturation attack of enemy ballistic missiles.

Some Will Get Through

A complete defence is, of course, impossible. Some attacks must always get through. Yet the figures are enough to show that despite its high cost a Nike-X defence system will be a worthwhile investment. The right way to think of it is to imagine a sound investment policy, costing under $500 a head, on the lives of no less than 70 million Americans.

As of now, since this country has no anti-ballistic missile defence and no shelter system to speak of, a Soviet missile attack on the United States is estimated to be likely to cost the lives of rather more than half the population—around 110 million persons, in fact. But a complete Nike-X defence system would save the lives of 70 million; and it would also save a proportional share of our cities and our industry, thus making it possible for our industrial society to survive as an organism. There is only one condition. Congress must overcome its aversion to a serious shelter program, which is needed to make the Nike-X system work.

The annual cost of this $500-a-head life insurance policy for 70 million Americans will not be so intimidating as one might suppose. The shelter program will need an all-in investment of about $5 billion. Missile manufacture and deployment will require a further investment of about $35 billion. But the outlay will naturally be spread over a considerable period of time, making the yearly investment not much more than $5 billion.

Strategically, politically and in every other imaginable way, the United States will gain immensely from possessing a defence system of this kind. In such a situation as Britain faced in 1939, there is all the difference in the world between a price tag on surrender, amounting to the end of civilized life in the United States, and a price tag that may be very terrible yet still preserves the future for later generations of free Americans.

Such, then, is the nature of the choice that is going to have to be made next year when the Nike-X program reaches the hardware phase. A wrong choice, such as President Truman made with Louis A. Johnson, is, of course, imaginable. But further defence cuts should not be counted on, until this issue has been faced.

INSIDE POLITICS

With Douglas Fisher, M.P.

Let's make this a series of impertinent questions to Mr. Pearson. You can join with me in wondering how he would answer them.

● Has Mr. Pearson thought over the reason why the Lamontagne furniture deal hit so many Canadians dead-centre? If so, he may recognize that the citizens' reaction was one of shock that a politician was getting the kind of deal that he and his like could never get. Therefore, Mr. Pearson might ask: "Isn't there some fool-proof way Lamontagne could prove it was a legitimate business deal, without any strings?"

Does the PM know that when items such as furniture are bought, and delivered in Ontario (as furniture was delivered to Mr. Lamontagne in Ottawa) provincial law requires that the sales tax be recorded?

If Mr. Lamontagne paid the sales tax or if it was noted on the invoices at the delivery time, wouldn't it be clear that the whole deal was straightforward? Of course, if he did not pay the sales tax, well... then the PM might ask himself whether anyone would go to the trouble of looking through the provincial sales tax records?

● Why doesn't Mr. Pearson take the initiative, before he is finally levered into it, and appear as a witness at the Dorion inquiry? Won't he have to come, sooner or later? Has Mr. Pearson looked at the terms of reference his own government gave the inquiry? Has he wondered how a judge could... inquire fully into the manner in which the Department of Justice and the Minister of Justice dealt with the allegations when they were brought to their attention without hearing from the Prime Minister? Surely the PM knows a judge is not the person—he, the PM is the person—who must judge the judgment and methods used by Guy Favreau.

Would Mr. Pearson want Judge Dorion commenting on the political and executive efficacy and adequacy of Favreau's action without an explanation from Favreau's boss on the kind of consultation and reporting he demands from his ministers and the kind of confidence he felt in Favreau on this case?

● Would the Prime Minister re-read the script of his year-end press conference, particularly the following statement which he made with such seriousness and care—exuding integrity: "If you are really concerned about a clean house you do not go around wildly swinging a broom and throwing rugs out of the window because somebody says there may be some dirt somewhere."

Did he say this just in order to appear the fair-minded leader of men, one who would not be panicked into summary treatment of any of his followers by unproven allegations? Or did he mean it? If he meant it as a position of principle, not a political sham, why did he not extend the same grace to his ex-parliamentary secretary, Guy Rouleau, MP? Who did the prejudging here? Was it the villainous, smearing opposition chaps like Erik Nielson?

Did the PM demand Rouleau's resignation as his secretary? If he did, on what grounds? If he thought they were substantial, why is Rouleau still holding the important office of Liberal party caucus chairman? Why is Rouleau good enough to be an MP and the caucus leader and not good enough to be the PM's secretary?

If the PM did not ask for Rouleau's resignation, why did he ever accept it? Has anything been proven yet about Rouleau? Has the PM ever heard of the unfairness of using a double standard in judging people? Why has he stood so nobly and patiently and loyally by his ministers and not behind Rouleau? Does Mr. Pearson remember how angry he was years ago over what happened to his friend, Herbert Norman, when that man was prejudged a Communist by some American politicians? Who, but Lester Pearson, prejudged Guy Rouleau?

● Does the PM remember the editorial reaction, which may have reflected the public's reaction, to his wandering through the Prairies while the Rivard case agitated his colleagues and the House? If he does, can he see any analogy at all to the news that he was holidaying in Florida and therefore had to renege on the invitation he accepted to participate at the anniversary commemoration in Kingston to Sir John A.? Has he forgotten how strained the feelings are towards him in much of Ontario, particularly in those parts and with those people who have a sense of tradition and heritage? Has he thought that his absence put an unfair onus on the Conservatives and even onto the memory of our first Prime Minister? Doesn't it tend to make grand, old Sir John seem just a party, a Tory figure? Does the PM as an ex-history teacher ever wonder on why we fall in Canada to develop sturdy myths and a reverence for our great men of the past? Perhaps he can console himself that he did make that Liberal convention out in Regina in November, keeping his commitment, even though some people thought he should have been somewhere else.

● It is likely that Mr. Pearson has considered the question of whether he is a more suitable prime minister for Canada than Mr. Dielenbaker and concluded that he was. No one, it seems to me, would doubt that Mr. Pearson had the right as a good partisan for the Liberal cause to reach such a conclusion. But has Mr. Pearson asked the question of himself: "Isn't there one, perhaps more than one, Liberal who would make a more suitable prime minister for Canada than me?"

Why doesn't he be impertinent with himself?

HEALTH OF UN

Crisis Not Fatal But Scars Likely

By MAX HARRELSON

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—There's a lot of talk about the precarious state of the United Nations' health, but the prevalent prognosis at headquarters is that the patient will live.

Most UN diplomats believe that neither a U.S.-Soviet showdown on peace-keeping assessments nor the withdrawal of Indonesia from the world organization will be fatal. But there may be some scars.

The United Nations was given up for dead several times in the past but made surprising recoveries.

This happened in 1950 when the Russians began a general boycott of UN meetings in an attempt to force the seating of China. It happened again in 1956 at the time of the Hungarian and Suez crises.

Other critical periods for the organization were in 1960 when Nikita Khrushchev launched his so-called "troika" plan to replace the secretary-general with a three-man executive group, and in 1961 when Dag Hammarskjöld was killed in an African plane crash.

GLOOM SETTLED

Each time gloom settled over UN headquarters. Dire predictions were heard, just as now. Some of the more pessimistic are recalling events leading to the collapse of the League of Nations and noting certain similarities.

They could be right. But a majority of UN diplomats diagnose the case this way:

If the General Assembly votes to uphold the U.S. position and suspend the voting rights of the Soviet Union, France and 16 other countries, there may be walkouts and other gestures of protest. But there will be no mass withdrawal from the United Nations.

If the Russians win, the United States would be embarrassed and might even cut its financial support of the UN to some extent. But it would not go so far as to wreck the organization.

One indication that the Russians do not expect the UN to collapse is the fact that they have made two contributions in the last four weeks totalling $5,000,000. They might have held off if they had been expecting to withdraw.

SHOWED STRENGTH

In some ways the organization has shown signs of strength in the midst of the current crisis. Many of its specialized agencies continue to expand and have launched ambitious plans for the future. UN membership continues to grow. Last month three new countries were admitted.

The crisis over peacekeeping assessments is more political than monetary. It's a case of the United States and the Soviet Union taking opposite positions on whether the assembly must suspend the voting rights of countries two years behind in paying assessments.

The financial position of the United Nations, while shaky, is not as bad as it was when the organization was pouring $10,000,000 a month into The Congo operation. The pressure was eased in part by the end of The Congo operation and by the $200,000,000 UN bond issue two years ago. The current deficit is $86,000,000 compared to $127,000,000 at the end of 1963.

SYNOPSIS—A ridge of high pressure has built over the southern half of B.C. and will force the path of the migrating Pacific storms well to the north of the province. As a result, no precipitation is expected for the next few days except for some drizzle in coastal areas. Skies generally will be cloudy in low lying areas both in the interior and along the coast, but there will be considerable sunshine at higher elevations.

Commercial 'Creeping' Turned Down
Oak Bay zoning and planning committee Tuesday evening turned down an application to change zoning of a lot on Hampshire Road from residential to commercial.

The lot is just south of Oak Bay Avenue. The application was made by Mr. and Mrs. Donald H. Mark, 1447 Hampshire. Committee decided it didn't want commercial ventures creeping down side streets off Oak Bay Ave.

Plans were to convert the lower floor of a dwelling into a beauty salon and use the upper storey for an apartment.

Committee will also recommend to council at its Monday meeting a resolution to prohibit establishment of professional offices in residential zones.

Canada's Tallest Building Already Signing Tenants

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto-Dominion Tower, which will be Canada's tallest building when its 56-stories are completed in 1967, is already attracting tenants.

Today the foundations of the tower are being placed in downtown Toronto, but more than 60 per cent of the space on the first 19 floors have been committed to tenants.

Gordon C. Gray, Toronto-Dominion Centre's vice-president in charge of leasing, said negotiations in progress are expected to account for about 25 per cent of the 1,310,000 square feet available for leasing in the building.

Names of tenants have not been made public, but what is known is that many are financial and stock brokerage companies drawn to the building because of its position in the heart of the city's business section.

VMD PIONEERS SIDE LAUNCHING

Barge Has Built-In Brakes

By RON SUDLOW

A launching technique used mainly in rivers and narrow waterways is being pioneered in Victoria by Victoria Machinery Depot.

The shipbuilding company has constructed a new set of ways for barge-building which enables side-launching.

The ways were completed last fall in the corner of the company's yard near James Bay Angler's Association's launching ramp.

The ways are at a point where side-launching is mandatory. Otherwise there would be a possibility of the craft slamming into the grain elevator pier across the bay.

Instrumental in conception and design of the ways was Victor Gadsby who supervised construction.

They have been used to launch large chip barges for Straits-Towing of Vancouver. First was launched Dec. 22 and the second on Wednesday.

Third and last of the present series is due Jan. 29.

Their 180-foot sides serve as a brake following the 790-ton craft's 13-second slide down the greased skids.

The hulls have a 46-foot beam, are 11 feet deep, and carry the chips in a huge box.

Total cost of the three barges is $350,000.

The new ways permit VMD to set up an assembly line method of construction and leave their larger ways free for shipbuilding jobs.

Sections of the barge are prefabricated in one area of the yard and are transported to an assembly area across a road from the ways.

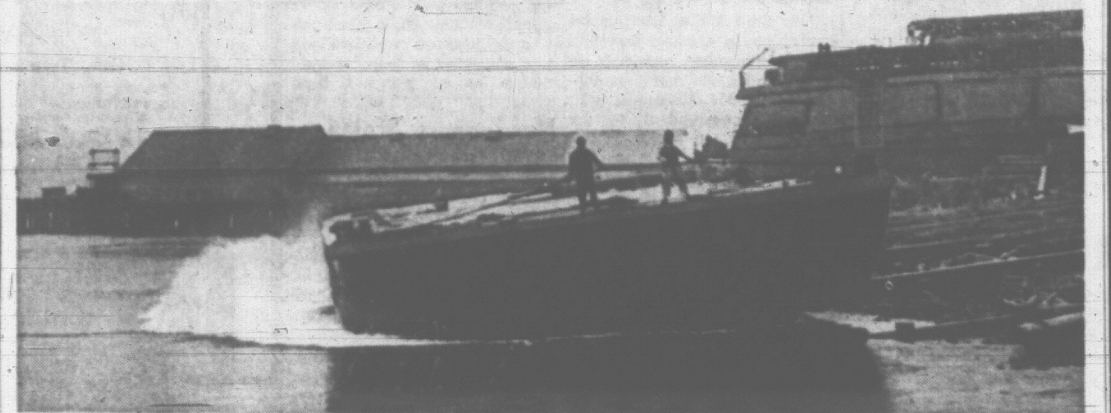

When the barge is completed, its 560,000 pounds of steel is skidded across the road, using heavy tractors and a system of cables and pulleys.

It is set on a horizontal launch which is triggered and drops down to send the hull into the water.

"This type of launching enables the company to take advantage of extra waterfront," said Jorgen Baess, naval architect for VMD.

"The ways are big enough to handle barges over the size of the ones presently under construction and can be made larger.

"We can now meet the increasing demand for barges and be working on three barges at the same time," he said.

Riding ways side-saddle is 180-foot chip barge.

STOCK JUMPS ON RUMORS

MONTREAL (CP) — Hudson Bay Mining stock closed up $4 at $77 on the Montreal and Toronto stock exchanges on Thursday.

There were a variety of rumors, all so far unconfirmed, to explain the jump. One was that a new mineral find reported in northern Manitoba had been confirmed, another that a stock split was on the way and another that a dividend increase is imminent.

The company is controlled by Anglo-American Corp. of South Africa, headed by Harry Oppenheimer.

Smaller Trees Can Be Cut In New Gov't Forest Policy

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia loggers will be allowed to cut smaller trees, Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston said Thursday.

However, loggers will be hit harder for deliberate waste, he told the annual convention of the B.C. Truck Loggers Association.

The minister called his speech "one of the most important I have ever delivered."

He said the new policy on smaller trees is designed to meet demands for more timber without cutting more than the soil can produce.

Mr. Williston told delegates: Loggers may cut trees 11 and seven inches in diameter at breast height in the interior, and 13 and nine inches DBH on the coast.

REGULAR QUOTAS
Regular sawlog quotas will continue to be allocated on the basis of 13 inches on the coast, 11 inches in the interior.

Quota-holding sawlog operators will be allocated 40 per cent of an area's smaller wood, pro-rated according to the quota held.

Pulp manufacturers will get the rest of the allowable smaller wood cut in the form of competitive pulp timber cutting permit sales.

Deliberately wasted wood will become part of the operator's allocated quota, based on the utilization standard on which he is working.

Mr. Williston said the smaller wood cut must be mature trees with poor growth, not healthy-growing trees in a growing forest.

Any quota holder operating now can apply to change his contract conditions so he can cut the smaller wood, said the minister.

Normal sawlog operators—those cutting down to 13 inches on the coast and 11 in the interior—will have to confine operations to stands where at least 60 per cent of trees are 13 inches or more DBH.

NO INCREASES
They will get no quota increase.

Operators contracting to cut everything down to nine inches will get increased quotas, but will have to operate in areas where a designated percentage of trees are nine inches or more DBH.

Pulpwood timber sales will be confined to areas not used before for sawlogs, and will come under the forest service.

"To meet the long-term demand we must utilize every possible foot of growth," said Mr. Williston.

Boom Missed

CANADIAN SHARE OF TRADE DOWN

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's share of world trade is declining, and since 1953 she has needed a steadily-rising amount of exports to pay for a given volume of imports.

Bulk of her exports are still resource materials when the big boom in world trade has been in manufactured goods.

Lion's share of Canadian exports still is going to the United States and Britain which, compared with other industrial nations, have grown relatively slowly. Even there, Canada has lost ground to other exporters.

These disquieting facts emerge from the report of the Economic Council of Canada.

REMOVE LUSTRE
They remove some of the lustre from Canada's 1964 trade performance. Exports last year rose by more than $1,000,000, the biggest year-to-year gain in history.

The council wrote this prescription:

A complete shift in emphasis is needed in Canada's commercial policy, as enunciated by the government, said the council.

The aim should be to win better access to foreign markets for Canadian-manufactured products and highly-processed raw materials, instead of concentrating as in the past on tariff breaks for raw materials.

Elsewhere in its report the council noted that manufacturing will have to supply most of those 1,500,000 jobs needed in Canada in 1964-70.

Recent government statements have indicated this already is the policy line, in general, for Canada's part in the Kennedy round of negotiations in Geneva.

POLICY REQUIRED
Also required, said the council, are "effective policies and efforts designed to improve the competitiveness of the economy, particularly in the areas of more highly processed and manufactured products."

"Consequently, increased emphasis must be given, as a matter of high priority, to industrial rationalization and specialization."

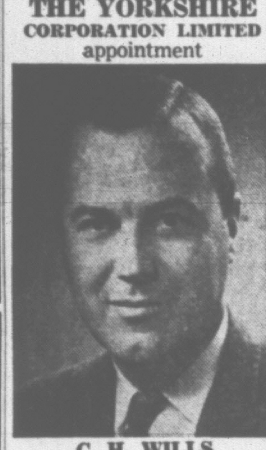

"This will involve greater technical efficiency and higher productivity in manufacturing, and particular attention to methods of achieving, in Canada, higher stages of processing of raw materials."

"Further, Canadian prices and costs must be kept in line, at a given exchange rate, with world prices and costs for goods entering into international trade."

The council also said the "private institutional and psychological barriers" to higher exports of manufactured goods must be reduced.

Steps recommended in that direction:

- Broader development within Canadian industry of modern and aggressive marketing techniques.
- Adequate, competitive, export-financing facilities.
- Removal of arbitrary restraints, where they exist, on the competitive export capabilities of Canadian subsidiaries of foreign-controlled firms."
- Vigorous trade promotion for industrial goods.

OLD-TIME SURVEYORS:

The apprenticeship system is "better than any college," say old-timers attending the 60th annual conference of the Corporation of Land Surveyors of British Columbia in the Empress Hotel.

Surveying is one of the few professions still using the apprenticeship system.

Taft-Hartley Act Repeal 'Promised'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Several hundred AFL-CIO leaders from across the United States headed home today to spread the word that organized labor has a promise of speedy action on its No. 1 goal in Congress—repeal of Section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act.

This is the so-called "right-to-work" section of federal labor law that allows the states to prohibit contracts that require all employees to join a union.

Chairman Adam C. Powell of the House of Representatives education and labor committee told the 800 labor leaders attending the legislative conference that hearings will begin Jan. 25. He said the repeal bill would be sent to the House floor by March 1.

Flag Delivery Set

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson's office announced Thursday that first deliveries of 16,000 new maple leaf flags will be received by the government next week but that the full order will not be completed by Canadian flag manufacturers until early February.

"It's the only way to learn a vocation properly," said 81-year-old John Elliott, who became an apprentice himself in Vancouver in 1906.

"You can learn all kinds of theory in college, but it takes practical experience—trial and error—to make a good specialist in any field," said 82-year-old Arthur O. Noakes of 1029 Douglas, still a practising surveyor in Victoria.

"Can you imagine a doctor setting up in private on the strength of what he learned in college? No, he has to handle live patients first."

64 YEARS AGO

Mr. Noakes became an apprenticed surveyor in London, England, 64 years ago. He was articled for five years and practised for 10 years in England before coming to Canada.

He has lived in Victoria since 1908.

Younger surveyors among the 75 delegates at the conference believe a combination of college training and apprenticeship is the best preparation.

"We are now required to take three years' apprenticeship after passing both junior matriculation and a surveyor's examination," said Vernon Goudal, a practising surveyor since 1958.

"Very few surveyors go to university but I think more will do so in the future."

W. A. Taylor, of Victoria, president of the Corporation of B.C. Land Surveyors, was in the chair at conference discussions Thursday and today.

The annual dinner-dance will be held in the Crystal Ballroom at 6:30 tonight when Gerald Andrews, B.C. surveyor-general, will be among the speakers.

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Quebec Tory MPs All Alone In Bid For Leadership Meet

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Many Conservatives across Canada, including young PCs in Montreal, turned thumbs down Thursday on a suggested national convention to vote on the leadership of John Diefenbaker.

Ten Quebec Conservative MPs led by Leon Balcer asked for the convention at a press conference in Ottawa, pointing to certain unspecified "difficulties" within the party.

The strongest reaction came from Montreal where Bernard Rheume, president of the Montreal council of the young PCs, said "it's time to change the party's Quebec leader and not the one in Ottawa."

"We need a Conservative organization in Quebec that will join in the other provinces in strengthening the party nationally," said Mr. Rheume, who is also vice-president of the Quebec province senior PCs.

However, Mr. Balcer obtained support from Quebec in a statement by Claude Harari, vice-president of both the Montreal and provincial young PCs. Mr. Harari called for the ouster of Mr. Diefenbaker as national party leader and the restoration of Mr. Balcer "to his honorable place in the Conservative party."

Mr. Rheume said Mr. Harari's statement was not on behalf of the Montreal council.

'NO VACANCY'

In Nova Scotia, George Nowlan, finance minister in the last Conservative government, said "Mr. Diefenbaker is leader of the party now, and there is no vacancy at the moment." He did not elaborate.

Campbell McLean, president of the PC Association of Manitoba, said he "doubts a request by 10 members would force the party to hold a convention."

Dr. J. J. Porter, president of the Albert-Progressive Conservative Association, said it would be a most unsuitable time to call a leadership convention.

CALL 'SURPRISE'

W. A. McLennan, president of the British Columbia PC Association, said he is surprised at Mr. Balcer's demand for a party leadership convention. He said he does not expect Mr. Balcer to bolt the party.

Davie Fulton, leader of the B.C. Progressive Conservative party, said "Mr. Balcer has put it to the national executive and it is not going to help for individuals to comment. I hope that when the decision is taken at the national executive level, it will be such as to restore unity in the party."

When your income tax form arrives in the mail, try to smile.

It's a numbered tax form that means faster handling, more economical processing.
It's Personalized. So smile.

This year about 6,500,000 income tax returns will be processed in Ottawa.

Each year the returns of thousands of new taxpayers add to the time and cost of processing.

But now we've got a new system of processing tax returns faster and more economically.

This is how it works.

You will receive a Personalized income tax form; sent direct to you instead of through your employer. (Makes it more convenient for you, faster for us.) This new tax form will have your own identification code number on it. Numbers mean quicker and more positive identification than names. Think of the 41,000 Smiths in Canada.

There's a way you can make this new system even better.

Analysis Ordered As Second Jacket Shown At Inquest

Low Marks Blamed On Noise

PORT ALBERNI (CP)—Students at Alberni-District Secondary School said Thursday they are getting lower grades and more homework because of construction noise.

They say noise from construction on the school's west wing leaves teachers unable to prepare proper lessons.

School principal William Ramsay said six of the school's 50 classrooms are affected by the noise.

However, he said he knew of no grades falling because of construction work.

Tenders Called On New School At Campbell R.

CAMPBELL RIVER—Tenders have been called for the first stage of a new senior secondary school.

The school will be built in two stages; first the academic wing, expected to be ready next September; second, a vocational wing scheduled for completion in the fall of 1966.

Cost of the academic wing, of 13 specialized classrooms, has been set at $350,000, with an additional $40,000 for equipment.

Pick-Up Service On Christmas Trees

CAMPBELL RIVER—Residents in a quandary about what to do with Christmas trees can leave it to the municipal works crew.

Council Tuesday night approved a suggestion by superintendent Sven Rudman that trees be picked up instead of being allowed to be discarded indiscriminately.

Trees placed in front of properties will be picked up throughout the municipality.

3 Welfare Cheques

PORT ALBERNI—Leonard Smith of Port Alberni has been sentenced to three concurrent six-month jail terms for collecting welfare under false names in three Island cities.

He was convicted Wednesday before Magistrate W. E. MacLeod of fraudulently obtaining welfare benefits in Port Alberni, Nanaimo and Duncan.

The jacket was a surprise introduction at the inquest on Emil Mackie, 69, who was found dead near railway tracks here Oct. 2.

Coroner Russell Inkster ordered the adjournment pending tests of the coat at RCMP laboratories in Vancouver.

The coat belonged to witness Klaus Johnson, a longshoreman who two other witnesses testified had been arguing with Mr. Mackie before his death.

Pathologist Dr. R. S. Clarke of Nanaimo told the jury death was due to shock and hemorrhage from numerous fractures along with bruises and abrasions over much of Mr. Mackie's body.

He said exposure may have been a contributing factor since the body had lain in heavy rain for several hours before its discovery.

NO TIRE MARKS

RCMP Const. Eldon Hill said no tire marks or impressions were found near the body, which had been 37 feet from the tracks.

A CPR official testified he had found no evidence to substantiate the possibility the victim was hit by a train.

Roy Miller, owner of the Ross Hotel, told the inquest Mr. Mackie had been in a hotel beer parlor the night of his death.

Two persons who said they had been in the same pub told of seeing Mr. Johnson and Mr. Mackie arguing.

SIMILAR JACKET

Const. William Ronnekamp produced a report from the RCMP labs which said fibres taken from the bottom of Mr. Johnson's car "could have originated" from Mr. Mackie's coat "or another composed of similar fibres."

Mr. Johnson said he had a similar jacket and agreed to a suggestion the jacket be picked up and entered as evidence.

He then went home with a Mountie and picked up the jacket after which the coroner adjourned the inquest.

$300 Bail Set In Damage Case

NANAIMO—Lloyd Green, 50, of Vancouver, was remanded until Jan. 22 on $300 bail when he appeared in court Wednesday charged with causing wilful damage and creating a disturbance by shouting.

Green was charged with damaging an automobile occupied by Mrs. Marie Dean of Vancouver by slicing through the windshield with an axe.

MAN KNOCKED UNCONSCIOUS IN CAR FLIP

CROFTON—Douglas Robert MacPherson, of Crofton, escaped serious injury today when his car turned over on Crofton Road.

The car was a total wreck. MacPherson was knocked unconscious and was given emergency oxygen treatment at the first aid room of BC Forest Products Crofton mill.

He was taken to Chemainus General Hospital and released after a check-up.

B.C.—Wide Takeover Asked For Transit

COBBLE HILL—The Public Utilities Commission will be asked to hear a Mill Bay-Cobble Hill delegation regarding lack of bus services.

George Bonner, of Cobble Hill, said Thursday the delegation will suggest a government takeover of all public transportation in the province.

Mr. Bonner said the discontinuance of the bus service via the Old Island Highway has caused hardship, particularly to older people.

The delegation will include: Steve Dougan, Mrs. William Armstrong, Mrs. Charles Blake, Mrs. A. S. Hunter and Mrs. M. A. Bronson.

SNOW STILL STYMIES DUNCAN'S DIVOTEERS

By DON DINGWALL.

Cowichan gol' course is strictly for the birds.

It looks like staying that way until its white winter coat—all 18 inches of it—is gone.

As things stand that could be the end of the month.

But while the club's 400 members are stymied, there is one man who isn't too unhappy.

GOOD REST

He is greenskeeper Tom Baldin.

He said: "I'm hoping the snow will do far more good than harm."

"Usually the course has tremendous traffic on it throughout the winter and it takes time for the grass to recover."

"This snow will give the course a good rest."

Right now the nine-hole course doesn't look at all like the sun-drenched place where Victoria's young Dick Munn, Cedar Hill pro, set an 18-hole course record of 65.

Nor could you imagine club pro Mel Evans shooting birds and eagles on his way to a 31.

These scores must be measured against the fact that Victoria club pros rate the Cowichan course one of the toughest nine-hole tests on the Island.

The executive is looking to the future ... to the day when Cowichan can boast a full 18-hole layout.

Improvements last year included installation of deep sand bunkers. They may have improved the course but certainly not the scores.

A $6,000 pro shop also was built.

Members are well on their way to owning the course outright.

The directors have undertaken to buy the outstanding debentures, at the rate of $3,000 a year.

CRASH BREAKS DRIVER'S RIBS

LADYSMITH—Harold T. Craig of Ladysmith, was taken to hospital with cracked ribs Wednesday night following a two-car collision.

He was in collision with a car driven by William A. Potts, of Duncan, at the intersection of the Trans-Canada Highway and the Old Island Highway.

A big car ride used to cost a big car price ...until Dodge!

DODGE '65 a lot more car for your money!

Dodge '65 gives you a big car ride, yet Dodge is priced right in line with the "standard-sized" cars. Dodge gives you a big 121-inch wheelbase to smooth out bumps. Dodge gives you a "Wide-Stance" wheel tread to stop swaying. Dodge gives you the solid, confident feel that used to be the exclusive property of the luxury cars.

Dodge gives you more. Dodge gives you exclusive Torsionaire suspension which also helps keep the car flat and level under all conditions. We call it "Velvet Ride". You'll call it "Great".

Test drive Dodge soon. Only then can you really see how much more Dodge gives you. In ride. In performance. In luxury. Dodge comes on big for '65. It's a lot of car. The most car in the popular-price field.

SPORTS
DIARYBy SHIRLEY POVICH
(The Washington Post)

WASHINGTON—When the American Football League pulled its all-star game out of New Orleans in a switch to Houston, the story was startling not alone for the fact that Negro players on the two squads made stick a sudden rebellion against racial practices they found in Louisiana. It brought forcible reminder of another truth in pro football.

This was in the number of the colored players involved, 21 of them who took the vote to boycott the game and quit New Orleans. Negro players thus represented 40 per cent of the two teams, and this was happening in organized pro football which, from 1934 to 1946, never bothered to sign a single colored player.

In the span of those 12 seasons, it was a sort of gentlemen's agreement of the club owners that, either Negro players could not play their game well enough or were unwelcome in it. Anyway, the doors were not open to them. But later came the discovery, or rediscovery, that colored athletes could play football as well, often better, than their white colleagues.

The AFL pro bowl game squads offer heavy testimony that the Negro has succeeded in pro football not only in numbers but in special excellence. The 21 colored players on the two teams were tapped by the league as deserving all-star status, a cut above the journeyman player in pro ranks. They are among the league's prides.

They Were There Before Motley

The mysterious workings of the boycott against Negro players by National Football League owners starting in 1934 were the more incredible because there had been several colored players in the league previous to that year. Fritz Pollard, the All-American halfback from Brown, played four seasons with Akron and the Providence Steam Rollers in the NFL from 1921-25, and Duke Slater, the famed Iowa tackle, was in the league from 1922-31, finishing up with the Chicago Cardinals.

Paul Robeson, Rutgers' All-American end, was in the pro league with Akron in 1921, and Joe Lillard was with the Cardinals and Eagles in 1922-33. But when Lillard hung up his cleats in '33, the NFL didn't welcome another Negro to its league until the Los Angeles Rams engineered the breakthrough of 1946. One of the first to sign was Kenny Washington, the UCLA halfback.

Washington had spent his best years in semi-pro ranks and was not in his peak when he joined Los Angeles in 1946, but in that same year a colored sensation was signed by a pro club. This was the Cleveland Browns of the new All-American Conference, coached by Paul Brown, who remembered a big schoolboy fullback who had played in Ohio high schools before he went to Nebraska. Marion Motley began to belt out record yardage for Brown.

Burgundy, Gold and Caucasian . . .

The last NFL club owner to recognize the skills of Negro players was George Preston Marshall of the Redskins whose enlightened stubbornness would not admit a colored player to the Washington club until 1962 when he relented and signed Bobby Mitchell. Until then, the Redskins' colors were known as Burgundy, Gold and Caucasian.

Marshall held out despite the painful fact that during his color-line years the Redskins' goal line was being integrated nearly every Sunday by Motley and Jim Brown and Mitchell and other Negro players on opposing teams who appeared to delight in playing a little harder against Marshall's team.

Until Jim Brown came along to break everybody's records, Motley was the unchallenged giant of yardage in the NFL. He averaged 5.7 yards on every carry, was Otto Graham's most valuable blocker on passes and played some both ways because he was one of the best tacklers on the team.

Colored End Took On a New Hue

The pro leagues never beckoned to J. H. (Bud) Holland, the Cornell immortal who in 1936-37-38 may have been the finest end in college football. As a Negro, he wasn't welcome and perhaps it was thus that he turned to another career. He was known as Dr. J. H. Holland president of Delaware State University.

Even his coaches at Cornell didn't fancy Holland in his sophomore year, he once related to the Washington Pigs Club annual dinner audience. Among these coaches were the late Jim Tatum, a North Carolinian with strong southern sympathies, and then assistant to head coach Carl Snavely at Cornell.

"When I came out for the varsity, Tatum was in charge of coaching the ends, and I was aware he was giving me the brush-off, and also why," Holland said. "But Tatum later did recommend to Snavely that I start. The way he put it was, 'You know, coach, that colored end is looking whiter all the time.'"

Pickering's Kill
Leads to Hawaii

CALGARY, Alta. (UPI)—Bob Pickering of Avonlea, Sask., executed a delicate kill on the 13th end here Thursday night to defeat Harold Worth of Delisle, Sask., 8-7, and win the A event in the Masters curling championships.

The victory guaranteed Pickering and his rink of Jack Keys, Garnet Campbell and Glen Campbell a trip to Hawaii with their wives later this winter.

Saturday, they play the winner of the B event for an added bonus—$1,000 in expense money for the trip.

'ANYBODY HOME?'

Defencemen Kent Douglas (left) and Carl Brewer (2) of Toronto appear to be asking an obvious question as they stare at empty Maple Leaf net during National Hockey League game in Montreal Forum Thursday night.

Goalie John Bower had dashed out of crease (and camera range) to chase loose puck. Montreal couldn't take advantage of this inviting target and lost for the third straight time at home, 5-3. (CP Wirephoto.)

Leafs Hear Rumbblings
Down California Way

Victoria Maple Leafs resume their Western Hockey League wars at Vancouver tonight and they could be keeping an ear open for news from San Francisco.

Down in California the San Francisco Seals are making noises that suggest they are ready to make a run for a playoff berth.

Although still in last place, the Seals left Memorial Sports Arena in Los Angeles rumbolling and rattling Thursday night after they had turned on surprising power and pulverized the Blades 8-3 before 9,528 fans.

Veterans Charley Burns and Len Haley each fired two goals to pace the Seals, who moved within four points of the Leafs and Blades, deadlocked in fourth place.

With three games in hand over Los Angeles and two over Victoria, the Seals will be trying to take another step up the ladder tonight. They'll be on home ice for a clash with Portland Buckaroos.

HALEY IN SCUFFLE

The other four San Francisco goals came from Wayne Connelly, Ray Cyr, George Swarbrick and Del Topoli.

Harold White, Willie O'Ree and Leo Labine scored for Los Angeles.

There wasn't a penalty called in the first 51 minutes of play but the action picked up in the final frame when Gordie Haworth of Los Angeles and Haley were penalized five minutes each for fighting.

It was the fifth loss for Los Angeles in the team's last six games and the first win this season for the Seals on Blades' ice.

TOUGH SCHEDULE

Leafs, who had lost only one of 10 games before being stopped by the Blades Tuesday, will be starting tonight on a stamina-sepping four-games-in-five-nights schedule.

They return home Saturday for another bout with the Canucks, travel to Seattle Sunday and hit home ice Tuesday for another clash with the pace-setting Totems.

Leafs will be bolstered by the return of defenceman Fred Hucl, who ended a six-week "retirement" this week, and rearguard Claude Labrosse, who missed two games with a foot injury.

Victoria may not be able to use forward Don Chiupka, trying to earn a spot with the Leafs after quitting the Eastern League in mid-December.

Leafs want to use Chiupka on a five-game trial basis but have not been able to have the 30-year-old winger cleared for this purpose by pro hockey's central registry.

SWIM TITLES AT STAKE IN ANNUAL CITY MEET

Swimmers by the dozens will invade the Crystal Garden Saturday for the start of the annual city swimming and diving championships.

Sponsored by the Victoria Amateur Swimming Club, the 72-event meet will be held on three days. Swimmers chase titles on successive Saturdays—Jan. 16 and 23. On both days, heats will get under way at 9:30 a.m. and finals will begin at 5:30 p.m.

Divers get into action Friday, Jan. 22, at 5:30 p.m. Tickets are available at the Crystal Garden.

Heart Condition
Blamed For Death

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—A 17-year-old novice boxer who collapsed in the ring during a Golden Gloves match died of a heart condition, not from a blow, the coroner ruled Thursday.

The coroner, Dr. David Belinsky, said a post mortem on the body of the boxer, Jerry Como Jr., "failed to reveal any evidence of traumatic death."

"From the autopsy and clinical findings and historical data it is my opinion that he died of a pre-existing cardiac condition, not usually detected by routine physical examination."

The coroner said he would make recommendations to the boxing commission later in the week.

Como's heart stopped briefly a short time after he dropped to the canvas Tuesday night, but doctors restarted it. They cut open his windpipe at South Side Hospital to aid breathing and used a machine to help maintain heart action.

The youth died Thursday morning without regaining consciousness.

He collapsed during a bout on the opening night of the tournament, which was scheduled for three successive Tuesday nights.

AFL SUCCESS STORY

Thirty-Eight In Line For Grid Franchises

HOUSTON (AP)—The American Football League will remain an eight-team league in 1965 and probably for at least two more years although it has scheduled an expansion meeting to consider 38 applications this year.

Commissioner Joe Foss said Thursday the AFL will investigate the various groups applying for franchises and then make up its mind if it wants to add any new clubs.

Foss said nine groups from Philadelphia, five from Atlanta, four each from Washington and Chicago, three from Milwaukee and two from Los Angeles have made inquiries. He also had heard from would-be owners in Miami, New Orleans, Birmingham, Seattle, Portland, Columbus and Cincinnati.

Foss said he has spoken to make recommendations to the boxing commission later in the week.

Como's heart stopped briefly a short time after he dropped to the canvas Tuesday night, but doctors restarted it. They cut open his windpipe at South Side Hospital to aid breathing and used a machine to help maintain heart action.

Habs Go One Way,
Bruins Go AnotherPulford, Oliver
Show the Way

By The Canadian Press
Fifty million Frenchmen can't be wrong, the saying goes.

But the 22,478 fans, French-Canadian, New-Englander or other, who turned out to watch National Hockey League games Thursday night could be excused for thinking they were in the wrong arena.

What happened? Montreal Canadiens lost their third game in a row on home ice while Boston Bruins, perennial cellar-dwellers of the NHL, registered their third straight home-ice victory.

It was Toronto Maple Leafs, paced by centre Bobby Pulford, who sent Canadiens down to a 5-3 defeat. In Boston, New York Rangers were on the losing end of a 5-2 score as centre Murray Oliver netted three goals to give the lowly Bruins their first hat trick of the season.

ROOKIE CONNECTS

Leafs and Canadiens were locked in a 3-3 tie halfway through the third period when Pulford struck for his second goal of the game. Eleven seconds later, newcomer Pete Stelmowski netted his first NHL goal to put the game out of reach.

Pulford's first goal, the only one scored in the first period, came while the Leafs were short-handed.

The game became a see-saw battle from the start of the second period.

Montreal's John Ferguson evened the score after only 38 seconds of play while Toronto was a man short. Then Jim Pappin scored from Stelmowski and Allan Stanley, and Claude Provost tied the score again, all before the three-minute mark of the period.

TWO FOR PROYOST

Stanley put Toronto ahead 3-2 near the halfway point, with Red Kelly and Stelmowski assisting, and Provost scored another at 13:13 to make the count 3-3.

The goals were Provost's 14th and 15th of the season, and moved him into fourth place in the NHL individual scoring race.

Canadiens outshot the Leafs in every period, but were unable to take advantage of their power play opportunities. Johnny Bower in the Toronto nets made 40 saves compared with 22 for Charlie Hodge, the defending Vezina Trophy champion.

The story was similar in Boston as the Bruins put the pressure on New York goalie Jacques Plante, who registered 43 saves to 21 for Boston goalie Eddie Johnston.

THREE WAS ENOUGH

With his three goals, Oliver opened the scoring in the first minute of play, tied the count 2-2 in the second period and later put the Bruins ahead to stay.

Bill Knibbs and Wayne Rivers netted insurance goals in the third period.

Both New York goals came from Bob Nevin. His ninth and 10th of the season tied the score in the first period and gave the Rangers a brief 2-1 lead at 3:30 of the second.

Five 'Firsts'
On All-Stars

MONTREAL (CP)—Five players won All-Star recognition for the first time in their National Hockey League careers in mid-season balloting for the official NHL All-Star teams.

Three of them waited a long time for the honor.

Centre Norm Ullman of Detroit Red Wings and right-winger Claude Provost of Montreal Canadiens, who made the first team, are in their 10th NHL season. Defenceman Harry Howell of New York Rangers is playing his 13th.

Howell was named to the second team, along with the other two newcomers—goaltender Roger Crozier of Detroit and right-winger Rod Gilbert of the Rangers. Crozier is a rookie and Gilbert has three NHL seasons behind him.

Neither Toronto Maple Leafs nor Boston Bruins had a player elected to the All-Star list. There are three each from the other four teams.

Bobby Hull of Chicago Black Hawks, the NHL scoring leader, received the only unanimous vote of 90 points.

TEAMS NAMED

FIRST TEAM: Goal—Charlie Hodge, Montreal (72). Defence—Jacques Laperriere, Montreal (84) and Pierre Pilote, Chicago (55). Centre—Norm Ullman, Detroit (75). Right wing—Claude Provost, Montreal (80). Left wing—Bobby Hull, Chicago (90).

SECOND TEAM: Goal—Roger Crozier, Detroit (67). Defence—Bill Gadsby, Detroit (48) and Harry Howell, New York (40). Centre—Stan Mikita, Chicago (52). Right wing—Rod Gilbert, New York (32). Left wing—Camille Henry, New York (35).

Another vote will be held at the end of the current season and the players receiving the highest total of points from both polls will be the official NHL All-Stars for 1964-65.

Players named to the first team in each half receive $500 each while second-team members get $250.

Cronin, Giles Out
Under Allyn's Plan

CHICAGO (AP)—A shakeup of baseball's top structure eliminating the office of league president in its present form was proposed Thursday night by Arthur Allyn, owner of Chicago White Sox.

He said he would like to see the presidents of the National and American Leagues (Warren Giles and Joe Cronin, respectively) replaced by an administrative secretary. He added that the presidency would be reduced to an honorary position to be rotated annually among the 10 club-owners in each circuit.

In Allyn's plan, the umpires would be placed under the control of the commissioner's office instead of being governed by the separate league offices.

NO MATTER WHOSE . . .

Amateur Sports Feud Still Hot Potato

CHICAGO (AP)—The feud between the U.S. National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Amateur Athletic Union over control of amateur athletics still is a hot potato no matter whose fire it is under.

The potato again was tossed to the AAU Thursday by the NCAA council which decided, at the close of the group's national convention, to proceed with a truce bid.

This boils down to co-sanctioning of track meets at the domestic level. The international level was not included, and that's about the only thing new.

The hub of the long power struggle between the two organizations has been the AAU's hold on international sanctioning.

Dual sanctioning—long has been the NCAA's ace card in trying to negotiate a truce. Regardless of the newest wording, the AAU rebutted through its executive director, Col. Don Hull, that if the proposal were aimed at dual sanctioning "we would be wasting our time talking to them."

The NCAA council expressed sharp disappointment at "pre-mature AAU disdain and summary dismissal" of the resolution. A meeting between the NCAA-backed U.S. Track and Field Federation and the AAU was urged.

Approval of a bylaw by the NCAA would in effect boycott

AAU-sanctioned track meets after March 1. Walter Byers, executive NCAA director, said this revised code would subject schools whose athletes compete in non-federation meets to probation or censure and that it "dramatized and crystallized the issue."

Among the first to feel pressure was the venerable Cleveland Knights of Columbus indoor track meet scheduled March 19. It draws heavily on collegiate stars.

Cleveland representatives told Byers that the March 1 boycott deadline, which permits all eastern AAU-supported indoor track meets to be conducted without interference, was unfair. Bill Weber, director of the Cleveland meet, charged discrimination.

Byers said the March 1 date was incorporated into the convention legislation at the advice of counsel and no slighting of any particular meet was intended.

United Bench Strengthened For Columbus

The construction business brightened this particular week for the Victoria United Soccer team.

The players looked after the bracing of the Pacific Coast League team's bench and some of Mayor Dick Wilson's hired hands erected covering for fans.

There could be added comfort presented at Royal Athletic Park this Saturday if United manages to conquer talented Vancouver Columbus. A Victoria victory would move United to within two points of the league lead.

City workmen have provided a temporary all-weather roof over 300 seats in the park partially demolished by fire last fall.

Mayor Wilson, meeting with officials of the Victoria team Thursday, promised a temporary covering for an additional 200 seats within the next few weeks.

United's bench received its bracing at Thursday night's workout when centre forward Jim Jamieson was pronounced fit and ready for Saturday's game.

FIVE RESERVES

Jamieson's return gives United, for the first time this season, solid bench strength. Coach Frank Grealy will have five reserves on hand to back up his starters.

The starters are goalie Larry Decosta; fullbacks Dave Stohard and Tony Quinn; halfbacks George Paul, Bill Hamilton and Ron Jenkin; and forwards Bert Soutar, Ash Valdal, Jamieson, Roy Hamilton and Dunc McCall. The reserves are Russ Ball, Marty Taylor, Ced Robb, Len Anderson and newcomer Peter Gooding.

The game may be the only PCSL match scheduled this weekend.

As of this morning, league officials were doubting the chances of scheduling any games on the mainland because of poor field conditions.

FULL SCHEDULE

Meanwhile, back in sunny Victoria...

A full schedule of District League games are set for Sunday.

Hourigan's Kickers, holding first place in the first division with a one-point advantage over Price and Smith and Victoria West, face Navy at Heywood Avenue Park.

Price and Smith will go against last-place Esquimalt at Bullen Park while the Wests are drawn against Scottish at Topaz. In the day's other game, Gorge will play Brodies at Central Park.

CLOSE CALL FOR SECOND BOBSLEDDER

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland (AP)—Canadian bobsledder Dr. John Emery Thursday escaped injury in a drastic spill at the same place where his brother, Vic, was hurt Wednesday.

Vic Emery, of Montreal, suffered cuts and bruises when his sled overturned in one of the last bends of the St. Moritz Olympia run. He planned to resume training Monday for the forthcoming world championships.

Both Emery brothers were on the four-man team that won a gold medal for Canada at last year's Winter Olympics in Austria.

PINSON TAKES CUT

Modest Pay Hike Persuades Bobby

NEW YORK (CP)—A contract for an estimated $35,000, described by general manager Ralph Houk as a "modest" increase, has persuaded Bobby Richardson to forget his retirement plans and play second base for New York Yankees again in 1965.

"I've changed my mind," Richardson said Thursday after admitting he had given serious thought to quitting the game after the 1964 season. "Rather, Houk changed it for me."

Bobby, who won't be 30 until August, had the most hits on the club last season, 181, while hitting .267. He set a World Series record of 13 hits although the Yankees lost in seven games to St. Louis Cardinals.

REDS SIGN THREE

Elsewhere, Cincinnati Reds announced signing of outfielders Vada Pinson and Tommy Harper and pitcher Bill Henry while pitcher Milt Pappas signed with Baltimore Orioles and catcher Gus Triandos returned his signed contract to Philadelphia Phillies.

Pinson's salary terms were not disclosed, but the fleet centre fielder was reported to have taken a $2,500 cut from his 1964 salary of $30,000. Pinson experienced his worst season, batting .266. He also hit 23 homers and drove in 84 runs.

Harper hit .243 and led the team in stolen bases with 24 in his second full season with the Reds. Henry was 2-2 last season with an 0.87 earned run average, all in relief.

Pappas, 16-7 in the Orioles' drive for the American League pennant, said he signed for "the best raise I've ever got." His salary was estimated at $30,000 to $32,000.

Triandos, playing his first season in the National League, batted .250 with eight homers and 33 RBE.

FOUNDING PINS is as easy as pounding beat for Don Sepka. City policeman, one-time lacrosse player, rolled 283-328-291—902 series to top men's five-pin division in The Daily Times "Bowler-of-the-Week" contest. Don thus qualifies for championship rolloff in May.

Victoria Pair Third In Silver Dance Test

VANCOUVER (CP)—Jill McCaffrey of Burnaby skated her way from third to first place Thursday in the novice ladies singles event at the B.C. Sectional Figure Skating championships.

The 12-year-old skater, winner of the B.C. Coast Championships, performed six double jumps in free skating to move from third place in compulsory figures to first.

Compulsory figures count 60 per cent of the skater's total score.

Patrick McKilligan, 12, of the North Shore Winter Club, won the men's novice singles all the way.

He led the compulsory figures by three points and increased his edge in his free skating performance.

Standing four feet, McKilligan was the smallest in his event. The bronze dance event went to Benita Cave and Barry Soper of Capilano Winter Club while Sherry Biagoni and Ted Pice of Kamloops took the novice mixed pairs crown.

Donna Kropp and Billy Pascal of Prince George skated fifth in the bronze dance event and second in novice mixed pairs.

Kim Hutchinson and Pat O'Brien of Penticton were third in mixed pairs and Shelly Blais and Michael O'Brien of Penticton fourth.

Shores Unable To Hold Lead

VANCOUVER — Vancouver YMCA consolidated its grasp on third place in the Inter-City Junior Basketball League Thursday night by defeating North Shore 59-41.

North Shore was in front 23-20 at the intermission but couldn't hold the sharpshooting YMCA crew in the second half.

Trophy Tussles Saturday

James Bay Athletic Association will be trying to bring a pair of trophies back to Victoria during rugby clashes Saturday at Macdonald Park.

The Oarsmen will be tangling at 2:30 with Vancouver Rowing Club sides in annual first and second division matches between the two organizations.

First division clubs meet on the upper field for the Cox Trophy and second division squads play for the Ferguson Trophy on the lower pitch.

Both trophies are currently held by the mainlanders.

Oak Bay Wanderers will also be matching muscles with a pair of Vancouver sides, meeting Meratomas in exhibition bouts. First division teams tangle at Windsor Park at 2:30 and second division squads meet on the Carnarvon Park pitch at 2.

TRIAL MATCH SET

Three Victoria Rugby Union tussles are also scheduled at 2:30 Saturday.

Cowichan will be at Gordon Head for a first division game against University of Victoria Vikings. In second division action, University and Navy clash at Gordon Head and Naval Apprentices host Cowichan at HMCS Naden.

Several players will be back in action Sunday at Carnarvon Park. On tap is a trial match between the Probables and the Possibles, starting at 2:30.

Combination Loop

The Combination Soccer League returns to action Saturday week after a long layoff because of the Christmas holidays and unplayable conditions.

Final games of the Trafalgar Cup play will be held after the regular schedule is completed.

Grocers Roll Over Bakers; Take First

VANCOUVER — Vancouver Grocers snapped a first-place deadlock with Alberni Athletics in the Inter-City Basketball League Thursday night by trimming New Westminster McGavins 84-65.

Torrid Putter Punctures Par

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Gene Littler, one of San Diego's favorite golfing sons, punctured par by nine strokes with a sensational putting performance Thursday and led the way through the first round of the $34,500 San Diego Open.

Littler's round of 36-32-62 over the par 71 Stardust Country Club course set a competitive record for the layout. But even so when the firing was over, he led his nearest rival, Bud Hoischer, by only two strokes. Hoischer had 32-32-64.

Littler won the San Diego tournament in 1954 when he was still an amateur. But in the view of his hometown San Diego worshippers he has done "little" in their San Diego Open as a professional.

Outside the county, he won the U.S. Open, captured the rich Las Vegas Tournament of Champions three straight years and amassed a tidy nest egg.

Three strokes back of Littler were Tony Lema, always a dangerous threat, and Al Besselink, who hasn't been shooting many 65s lately. Defending champion Art Wall Jr. had a 71.

Bottle-Slugger Receives 12-Month Term

Daniel Stanley Fletcher, 20, an Esquimalt sailor who slugged a Sooke man with a bottle, Nov. 28, was sentenced to 12 months definite and 12 months indefinite when he appeared in Sooke Court Thursday.

Magistrate Eugene Murphy ordered the term served concurrently with a 12-month definite and 12-month indefinite sentence which was imposed on Fletcher in Supreme Court Wednesday on a charge of indecent assault.

Fletcher was put on a three-year suspended sentence on the indecent assault charge when he was convicted in Supreme Court in December.

After the conviction for assault, causing bodily harm to the Sooke man, he was charged with a breach of his suspended sentence.

Rick Maycock, 37, Cadillac, who was found driving his car while suspended twice in one week, was jailed for 14 days on the second offence when he appeared in Saanich court.

On his first conviction, for which he was fined $100, Maycock said he had to drive his pregnant wife to the doctor's office.

Magistrate William Ostler told him: "You should not have tried to escape the penalty by telling the court a story to excite sympathy which had very little foundation. You were not really driving your wife around all the time."

Maycock pleaded guilty.

Bryan A. Davidson, 1184 Esquimalt Road, was jailed for four months on four charges of false pretences.

He previously told the court he cashed the cheques because he was unemployed and needed the money for liquor.

The cheques, which were all cashed at the same department store Dec. 19, totalled $110.

Two motorists who pleaded guilty to careless driving were fined a total of $95.

Alfred Spinelli, 1157 Empress, was fined $45 after the court was told he was involved in an accident when he passed through a red light at Douglas and Saanich Road.

Ernest W. Lea, 1413 Andrews, was fined $50. Court was told his car went out of control and hit a stop sign when he attempted to pass a tow-truck on Burnside Road West, Dec. 21.

Salvation Army: Rotten Fruit Turned to Orchids

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

When William Booth started the Salvation Army almost 100 years ago, he was pelted with rotten fruit and vegetables by skeptical onlookers.

Today the organization he founded is acclaimed in 96 countries of the world.

"The centenary of our founder is one of the great events of 1965," says Capt. Don McMillan, newly-appointed leader of the Salvation Army Citadel at 757 Pandora Avenue.

"We shall celebrate it with special services and meetings throughout the year," he said.

Capt. McMillan and his wife, who will share the leadership with him, arrived here Thursday with their 12-year-old daughter, Susan. They will be welcomed at services in the Victoria Citadel Sunday morning and evening.

They were formerly stationed at Scarboro, Ont.

Capt. McMillan recalled that General William Booth was born at Nottingham, England, on April 10, 1829. The son of a builder, he became a revivalist teacher at the age of 15.

In 1864 he went to London and conducted services in tents and on street corners. One day he said to his son, Bramwell:

"I wish I had a volunteer army to preach the gospel all over the world."

In 1865, he formed what was called the Volunteer Army and with a handful of supporters, held services all over London. Surviving ridicule and opposition from some of the older established churches, the organization was renamed the Salvation Army in 1878.

"We now have 16,659 citadels all over the world," Capt. McMillan said, "and our work is carried on by 25,474 officers and thousands of volunteers."

While attending the Salvation Army officers' training school in New York, he held meetings in the Bowery and a depressed area of Times Square known as "Hell's Kitchen."

"This area is largely inhabited by broken-down actors and entertainers," Capt. McLaren said. "We established a coffee house where these unfortunates could be fed and entertained with Christian music."

TOUGH AREAS

Capt. McMillan said it is customary for officers in training to get practical experience of evangelical work in the "tougher" districts.

"In the Bowery we encountered some ridicule and abuse, but generally speaking the reception we got from the beatnik crowd was friendlier than I expected."

"I think people everywhere respect the Salvation Army because it caters to physical as well as spiritual needs."

Capt. McMillan was educated in Montreal and, after graduation from Montreal West High School, attended the Gordon College of Theology, Boston.

After officer training, he worked in Boston, Salem and Springfield, Mass.; New Haven, Conn., and Buffalo, New York. On being transferred back to Canada, he worked in Toronto, Montreal, Halifax and Scarborough.

Mrs. McMillan is a native of Flint, Michigan, and before her marriage served on the Salvation Army's national headquarters staff.

Belmont delivers clean, clear taste through a new, moisturized charcoal

PHASE II IN CHARCOAL FILTER RESEARCH: If you are like the many smokers we talked to in a recent study, you want the efficiency of a charcoal filter plus the clean, clear, unspoiled taste that Belmont's advanced charcoal filter delivers.

Benson & Hedges researchers broke through a year ago to bring you Canada's first charcoal filter. In Phase II our research team set about finding a method of combining another notably effective filtering agent—water—with the charcoal granules in our filter. They succeeded, and today Belmont has Canada's first moisturized charcoal filter.

Because this moisturized charcoal filter is so much more efficient, the taste of the tobacco—and only the tobacco—comes through clean and clear. As a result, Benson & Hedges have been able to match a more advanced tobacco blend to the new filtering system. You enjoy clarity of flavour and subtleties of taste never before possible. And in addition to its clean, clear taste, this new blend gives you a slower burning, more leisurely smoke.

If you haven't tried a Belmont recently, try one today. Taste the difference these advances have made.

Coffin Unearthed Link With History

'HOT ROADS' LIKELY NEXT

WASHINGTON (AP)—Prospects of keeping pavements free of ice and snow by electrical heating appear good, according to a report by Toronto engineers on three years of experiments on expressway ramps in that city, which they presented to the annual meeting of the Highway Research Board here Thursday.

Norwegian Rescued From Tank

REVERE, Mass. (AP)—Crew members of an oil tanker lowered a Norwegian seaman into a hold partly filled with crude oil to rescue a companion Wednesday night.

The companion, John Frederickson, 21, was on the danger list in hospital today with multiple injuries suffered in falling into the oil.

Police said Alf Oleson, 21, was lowered into the hold and tied a rope around Frederickson. Both were pulled up.

Oleson, apparently suffering from shock, had to be restrained after the rescue. He was treated for oil fume inhalation and released.

Norwegian vessel Ariemas, docked here.

Suspended Term For Threats Against Bennett

PRINCE GEORGE (CP)—A man who threatened the lives of Premier W. A. C. Bennett and three B.C. Hydro and Power Authority officials was handed a two-year suspended sentence Thursday.

Mervin Underhill, 40, of Prince George, was sentenced after he promised Magistrate G. O. Stewart that he would remain on medication to control a mental disorder.

Underhill admitted threatening the lives of Premier Bennett, Dr. Gordon Shrum, co-chairman of B.C. Hydro, and two other Hydro officials identified only as Gouge and Adams.

The threat was contained in a letter addressed to Mr. Gouge and dated July 23, 1964.

CREATES AND DESTROYS

It takes nature up to 1,000 years to make an inch of fertile topsoil, but it can be washed away in a single night.

By DOUG MARSHALL

LONDON (CP)—Experts confirm that a four-foot lead coffin unearthed in London's east end last month is linked with one of the bloodiest periods and greatest mysteries of English history — the murder of the princes in the Tower of London.

The London Museum announced Thursday that the coffin, shaped like a shrouded body, contains the remains of Anne Mowbray, child bride of Prince Richard, Duke of York and younger of the two ill-fated sons of Edward IV.

Anne, daughter and heir of the Duke of Norfolk, and Richard were married Jan. 15, 1478 — 487 years ago today — at a splendid gold- and - azure wedding in St. Stephens' Chapel, Westminster. The bride had just turned five and the prince was 4½.

Anne died in 1481, a month before her ninth birthday. Her husband barely survived her. With his brother Edward he died in the tower either in 1483 or 1485, allegedly by suffocation with a pillow while they lay asleep.

FOUND IN STEPNEY

The coffin was discovered when a mechanical excavator working on a site in Stepney, just outside the walls of the old city of London, ripped open a sealed vault. The building site is within the precincts of a medieval convent.

In the coffin the experts found a chestnut - brown skull covered with matted hair that suggests Anne was blonde. The ribs had crumbled into dust but other parts of the skeleton protruded from the sandy soil.

Richard's brother Edward became king at the age of 13 in 1483. But Edward V was never crowned. Instead the king and his brother were tucked away in the tower while their elder relations feuded and manoeuvred for power.

Eventually their uncle, the Duke of Gloucester, seized the throne and was crowned Richard III with the claim that both young princes were illegitimate.

Most historians, following the line taken by Tudor philosopher Sir Thomas More and playwright William Shakespeare, have blamed wicked, crooked Richard for the murders.

Plans Blossom For Spring Flower Festival

This year's Spring Flower Festival is beginning to take shape.

A meeting Wednesday of the sponsors, Victoria Chamber of Commerce's tourist industry group, heard a number of plans. More meetings are scheduled to complete plans.

The festival will run from April 10 to 49.

Crowning of the Mayfair Queen, who will become the Spring Flower Festival Queen, is planned for Saturday, April 10.

A black-tie invitation-only charity dinner is planned by the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation at the Empress Hotel that evening to coincide with the festival opening.

CHORAL SERVICE

Sunday, an inter-denominational church choral service is planned for Centennial Square. Mayor R. B. Wilson feels it is "a terrific idea," the meeting was told.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce will handle a road-e-o-the-same day.

An art show, either on Thursday or for the whole week, will be looked into.

A children's parade is planned for Friday. Route of the parade hasn't been decided but it is planned to terminate it at city hall.

It was suggested prizes could be awarded in Centennial Square, possibly by the mayor. The parade would include bands, costumes and floats.

FASHION SHOW

Saturday sees a fashion show at the Crystal Garden and the Boatmen's Ball at the same place in the evening.

An Easter Parade Sunday along the Causeway was suggested for Sunday and square dancing on Monday.

Other activities planned include a flower show, figure skating carnival and trips to a flower bulb farm.

The festival committee will meet again next Thursday to hear more reports from sub-committees working on the details.

Bennett Cool On Four Lanes

Oak Bay Adds New Projects For Winter

Four new projects valued at $64,000 have been added to Oak Bay's current program of winter work.

This brings the gross value of the municipality's winter works to $384,000.

Heading the list is a boulevard sprinkling system extension valued at $25,000. Federal government share is $4,000.

In this fourth year of a seven-year program, sprinklers will be extended to Rutland, Florence, Roslyn, and parts of Newport and Oliver.

15-INCH MAINS

Two thousand feet of 12-inch water main will be installed in the Margate-Beach area at a cost of $23,000, with Ottawa adding a grant of $4,000.

Blacktopping of Oak Bay Marina parking lot at a cost of $11,000 is also included, with Ottawa paying $2,000. The project will provide parking for 150 more cars.

Other new project is a $5,000 lighting program for Cedar Hill Cross Road from Henderson to Gordon Head which will link up with a Saanich project.

B.C. Automobile Association's request Thursday for a four-lane express route from Swartz Bay to Victoria failed to impress Premier Bennett.

"He told us that it (Patricia Bay Highway) is a good highway and it only takes 32 minutes to come in" from the ferry terminal, BCAA president E. A. Adams reported.

The premier made his remarks to a delegation that met the cabinet with the annual BCAA brief.

TIME TO STUDY

Mr. Adams said Mr. Gagliardi made no comment on the association's freeway proposal except that he needed time to study them.

The delegation pressed the point that "a 60-m.p.h. two-lane highway, with many motorists hurrying to catch a ferry, is not a good thing," said Mr. Adams.

Among other requests, the association asked the cabinet to consider providing restroom and restaurant facilities at Swartz Bay and other government ferry terminals outside the fenced enclosures for patrons for the convenience of persons meeting the ferries.

Mr. Cuomo, 35, who published two books since coming to Victoria in 1961, said he leaves with regret.

"I have no dissatisfaction with the university... Roger Bishop (head of the English department) has been a tremendous chairman."

$10,000 DINNER SET TO MARK BENNETT FEAT

VANCOUVER (CP)—A dinner to honor Premier W. A. C. Bennett's record tenure as B.C. premier will be held here Feb. 17.

A spokesman for the committee organizing the dinner says the $10-a-plate affair will have Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes as honorary chairman, and former Lieutenant-Governors Clarence Wallace and Frank Ross as honorary vice-chairmen, along with Vancouver's Mayor William Rathie.

About 1,000 persons are expected to attend. Organizing the dinner is a representative, non-political committee headed by co-chairman George Cunningham and Allan McGavin.

Premier Bennett took office on Aug. 1, 1952. On Feb. 15 he will surpass the record of 12½ years served by Premier Sir Richard McBride.

Noted Author Needs California's Call

Prize-winning author George Cuomo of University of Victoria English department leaves in September for a post at a new California college.

He will be a professor of English at California State College at Hayward, a college of about 3,000 students, and will be responsible for setting up a creative writing program.

Mr. Cuomo, 35, who published two books since coming to Victoria in 1961, said he leaves with regret.

"I have no dissatisfaction with the university... Roger Bishop (head of the English department) has been a tremendous chairman."

CALL OF THE CITY

He said he and his wife and young family are "really leaving because we want to live near San Francisco. It has been a lure for a long time."

Hayward is located about 20 miles east of the city, across San Francisco Bay.

Mr. Cuomo said there was no "luring away" by a rival university, although the English department considers offers to members of the faculty from competing universities "a real problem."

Mr. Cuomo, a native of New York City, has been employed by a number of American universities and colleges, has done newspaper and advertising work and has written short stories, novels, plays and poetry.

His two works published since coming here are Jack Be Nimble, based on a small-town collection.

Wall Across Berlin May Be Electrified

BERLIN (AP)—The East German Communists appear to be testing the feasibility of ring-fencing West Berlin with an electrified fence to make escape more difficult.

West Berlin police sources said today that stretches of electrified fence have been built at six different locations around the western half of the city.

The sixth stretch was completed Wednesday in downtown Berlin, along the wall where last September a refugee was severely wounded by Red gunfire. He was rescued by a U.S. military policeman.

The section is more than 700 feet long and about six feet high. Fourteen wires are strung one above the other, each fastened to white porcelain insulators attached to wooden posts.

A West Berlin police spokesman said the insulators holding the wires were too small to carry high tension lines. He suggested the wires might not be charged with a voltage strong enough to kill but could serve to trigger alarms.

Allied officials said they believed the fences were being built to test whether it is feasible to put them around the entire city.

Chief Hassle Handed Back To Full Council

The Saanich fire chief hassle was handed back to council by the municipal fire committee Thursday.

The committee did not come to a decision on confirmation or denial of fire chief Joseph Sutherland's six-month probationary appointment which expired Dec. 31.

Committee chairman Coun. Gregory Cook said the matter will be on council's agenda Monday night.

BRILLIANT CAREER

Song, Dance Great Dies At Age 57

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Gene Raymond makes a mournful journey to Hollywood today with the body of his wife, Jeanette MacDonald, lovely songbird of a liling era in American movies who died of a heart ailment in Houston Thursday. She was 57.

Her death brought an end to a brilliant stage and film career and to her 27-year marriage—a childless one. Her last words to Raymond came in a Houston, Tex., hospital, where she had been flown Tuesday to undergo heart surgery.

"I love you," she whispered. "I love you, too," he replied.

She died a few minutes later. The auburn-haired soprano had left her Beverly Hills home in serious but not critical condition as the result of a long-time cardiovascular ailment.

OPERATION POSTPONED

She arrived in Houston Tuesday and was taken to hospital. Because of her weakened condition, open heart-surgery was postponed, a Hollywood spokesman said. She was being fed intravenously when she died.

Nelson Eddy, Miss MacDonald's partner in a series of melodic films from Naughty Marietta (1935) to I Married an Angel (1942), said he was "shocked and deeply distressed" to learn of her death.

"It doesn't seem possible," said the wavy-haired baritone, "that this beautiful, vibrant woman is gone. I spoke to her only a week ago. We were setting up a date for dinner."

Miss MacDonald was born in Philadelphia. She began singing and dancing at an early age, and first found success as a dancer. While appearing in Broadway revues she continued vocal lessons and reached stardom as a singer.

She achieved her greatest fame when Louis B. Mayer signed her to an MGM contract and later teamed her with a little-known opera baritone, Nelson Eddy. From the moment of their lyric duet of Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life in Naughty Marietta, the team was an international sensation.

Latin-America Seminar Planned By Uvic Students

The Canadian Union of Students Committee of University of Victoria will present a seminar on Latin America Saturday at 2 p.m.

Dr. J. C. M. Ogelsby of the history department and Senor O. N. Brito Filho, Brazilian consul in Vancouver, will address the seminar in the Student Union Building, Gordon Head Campus.

Special guests will be W. A. Irwin, former Canadian Ambassador to Brazil and Mexico and publisher of the Victoria Daily Times; Charles A. Sheehy of the University of Victoria; Christon Archer, student of Latin American History and politics at Uvic; John Craddock, Uvic student who lived in Colombia, South America.

Seminar is open to the public.

Soviets War On Dropouts

MOSCOW — A national campaign against dropouts, children who do not finish the compulsory eight years of school, was signalled this week by the Communist Party newspaper Pravda.

It gave no figures on the extent of the problem. One hint, however, came in its report that a registration drive in Azerbaijan, one of the smallest Soviet republics, had brought 13,000 pupils back to class.

Arthur Mayse

As interest in what lies west around the Vancouver Island corner increases, there are encouraging signs that hiking for pleasure may be in for a considerable revival.

I hope our recreation people will encourage this trend by clearing old trails and establishing new ones, preferably with overnight campsites where the foot-slogger can throw up a lightweight tent or plastic roof.

Better still, on the more travelled trails, would be a spaced string of permanent shelters... not cabins, but merely open-front shake lean-tos with stone fireplaces in front.

More luxury than that, a hiker doesn't need. His essentials are a lightweight sleeping bag and tarp, a pack-rig adequate for a load much less heavy than he thinks he can carry, and a good pair of boots.

Of these, the boots are the most important item. An army may march on its stomach, but a hiker poorly shod courts tribulation that may develop into serious trouble.

An infected heel-blister or an ankle twisted a long way from the roads can, at the very least, ruin a trip not only for the victim but for his companions.

In the course of walking a great many miles for pleasure and pay, I have acquired some firm likes and dislikes in this matter of hiking footwear.

Running shoes, as far as I'm concerned, are useless except for dry-rock climbing, or an easy, unobstructed trail.

Lace-up rubber boots are fine in wet snow or on short hauls, but tend to parboil feet cased in wool socks, which are the only kind a hiker should consider. (If wool irritates your skin, wear silk or light nylon underneath.)

This narrows my field to leather: a preference which I share with most who work or play outdoors.

Among the less expensive boots, the ankle-high army-type with non-skid sole is hard to beat. Warm a good coat of dubbin into these before a trip and they keep the feet dry through any reasonable going.

I also like the eastern shoe-pac type with an authentic moccasin vamp—not the cheap imitation which breaks its seams under stress—and a solid leather sole peppered with small cone-headed hobnails. Add three loggers' caulks in each instep, and you have a satisfactory all-round boot.

A warning here, though: in any boot you buy, make sure the top isn't so high that it binds the calf. On a steep grade, nothing takes the spunk out of a hiker more speedily than a pair of 16-inch boot-tops constricting his muscles with every stride. Unless you travel where rattlesnakes abound, avoid those stovepipe tops like the plague.

My own choice—damnable expensive, I'm sorry to say—is the logging boot developed to meet the specialized requirements of our coast woods.

Its double vamp construction makes it waterproof as any boot stitched from leather can or should be. The shaped heel doesn't drag or catch, a virtue important to men whose trade allows few mis-steps.

Also, for traction under most conditions a woods-walker will encounter, I have found nothing more dependable than a set of properly spaced caulks, especially when these have scuffed enough rock to blunt their points.

One stream-crossing on a slippery log will demonstrate my point.

Some people find "caulked shoes" heavy, and it's well to specify light cruisers if you ever invest in a pair. Also, the soles, if caulked, ball up quickly in snow.

Even so, the next boots I buy will be light cruisers with eight or perhaps ten-inch fops and regulation false tongues and fringed slips of leather inserted under the lacing to prevent vines and brush from catching.

Boots of any type must be large enough so that the feet can expand comfortably under the weight of a pack; and for your own convenience and safety, learn from some constant how to tie "em with the loggers' knot!

Topics of the Day

The wets outnumbered the dries in mail reaching city hall today on the subject of a proposed bar in McPherson Playhouse.

To date, the prohibitionists far exceed those in favor of drinking in the mission—an estimated 1,300 names on 14 petitions.

But today there were nine letters from individuals opposing liquor, seven letters in favor of a liquor licence, and two petitions approving the idea, with a total 32 names.

A Summerland youth, George B. Holmes, 18, was fined $30 in court Thursday for pushing a second youth through a plate glass restaurant window during a fight.

The second youth, John Henderson, 142 Linden, who pleaded not guilty to a charge of causing a disturbance, received face and leg cuts when he went through the four-by-eight-foot window Jan. 5.

He is to appear for trial Jan. 27.

A 19-year-old youth pleaded guilty in Saanich court this morning to contributing to the juvenile delinquency of a 14-year-old girl.

George W. Barnard will be sentenced for the offence Jan. 22.

Vancouver Island Dog Fanatics Association will present a sanction show Sunday at the CCF Hall on Douglas Street.

Entries will be received from 12:45 to 1:45 p.m. Handling Classes start at 1:30. The show begins at 2 p.m. A parade of champions will take place at 2:45 p.m.

Further information is available by phoning 385-6535.

The younger section of the junior branch of the Victoria Natural History Society will meet on Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at the Monterey parking lot for a field trip to Rithets Hill, Royal Oak.

If weather is bad the meeting will be held at the Nature House at Francis Park.

Visitors to Royal Jubilee Hospital and the daily load of 1,250 staff and doctors may soon be paying for their parking.

As part of the long-range hospital development program, Jubilee board of directors will consider proposals for the enlargement and regulation of parking facilities.

A special survey was conducted recently and recommendations are expected to include controlled parking for visitors on an hourly basis, perhaps at 10 cents an hour.

WILLIAM CANN extension

Permanent Commission

F/Lt. William R. Cann of Victoria, has been granted a permanent commission in the RCAF, Air Defence Command headquarters announced today.

He was previously serving as a short-service commissioned officer.

A permanent commission is an extension of a serviceman's career until he reaches a specified retirement age which is governed by his rank.

F/Lt. Cann was born and educated here and joined the RCAF in 1954. A year later he received his navigator's wings.

He has served at RCAF stations: Holberg, V.I.; Falconbridge, Ont.; Senneterre, Que.; Site PIN (DEW line), N.W.T., and is currently posted as public relations officer of Beauséjour, Man., radar station.

Thermopylae Club Names Veres

Capt. George A. Veres, managing director of McKay-Cormack Shipyards Ltd., was elected Wednesday as skipper of Victoria Thermopylae Club.

Other officers chosen at the club's annual meeting were Keith Alexander, first mate; C. W. Gorbey, second mate; Charles Tapping, purser, and W. G. Henning, supercargo.

The group will hold its annual dinner Jan. 25 at the Coach and Four restaurant.

'Canadians Far From Blameless' On Discrimination Says Thorson

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Canada is far from being free of racial discrimination, Hon. J. T. Thorson, president of the Canadian Citizenship Council, said here today.

"There is still discrimination against Negroes and other Canadians whose skins are not white, and there is a strong anti-Semitic sentiment in several parts of Canada."

Visiting here from his headquarters in Ottawa, Mr. Thorson was addressing a luncheon meeting of the Greater Victoria Citizenship Council at the Empress Hotel.

He urged that the national council should co-operate with local citizenship councils in trying to stamp out racial and religious discrimination in all provinces.

"We must realize there is no superior race and no basic difference between the human beings who constitute the Canadian nation."

Mr. Thorson condemned "frequent reference" to the two founding races of Canada as French Canadians and English Canadians.

"This is erroneous... Canada is a land whose citizens are of many origins. Approximately 45 per cent of them are of British origin and approximately 30 per cent are of French origin."

"The remaining 25 per cent are of origins that are neither British nor French."

Formerly president of the International Congress of Jurists and the Exchequer Court of Canada, Mr. Thorson said Canadians rightly condemn discrimination in other lands but are far from blameless themselves.

"It is true that substantial progress has been made in recent years in reducing the scourge of racial discrimination in such matters as housing and employment."

"Ontario has led the way in legislation such as the Ontario Human Rights Code dealing with fair employment practices, equal pay for women, fair accommodation practices and housing."

"British Columbia has dealt with these matters except as to housing, but has recently passed legislation directed against discrimination in employment because of age."

Mr. Thorson said there is no such legislation in Newfoundland, and both Alberta and Prince Edward Island "lag behind" except that each has passed legislation providing equal pay for women.

He urged equality of status for Indians and Eskimos as citizens of Canada and said all Canadians should be ready and willing to accept them on that basis.

'Ill-Gotten Gains, My Eye!'—Wilson

Municipal transit subsidy would mean increased taxation, Mayor R. B. Wilson pointed out today in reply to the premier's reference to "ill-gotten" franchise payments to the city by B.C. Hydro.

In an interview Thursday the premier said it would be nice if Vancouver and Victoria municipalities used some of their "ill-gotten gains" in franchise payments to help old age pensioners meet increased bus fares.

"MY EYE!" "Ill-gotten gains, my eye," the mayor said.

"The franchise payments we receive are part of the contract Hydro assumed when it took over from B.C. Electric and are used exclusively for street maintenance along bus routes."

"There is no assurance that increased bus fares will give us a greater return. If we are to assume some of the Hydro responsibility toward passengers by subsidizing buses, there is only one source of funds and that is increased taxation," the mayor said.

"The only rich government in the province is the provincial government."

"I think we can assume, too, that there is more than $22,000 worth of damage to streets in a year, so there's no profit in it for us."

Senior citizen's homes in Greater Victoria are expecting serious cases of "economic shut-ins" as a result of bus fare increases.

Mrs. V. L. Hawkins, administrator of Kiwanis Villa, said today most of the 52 residents are "just staying at home because they can't afford to go anywhere."

Residents of Sunset Lodge, 352 Arm, are in the same position, but to a lesser extent because they have been staying inside due to poor weather recently.

Mrs. Katherine Horne, executive director of the Silver Threads Service, said pensioners will now be restricted to using the bus only two or three times a month.

"The increased bus fares are going to change the framework of their whole existence," she said.

"Before the increases their budgets usually allowed them to use the bus twice a week for going downtown or visiting relatives."

"The pensioners only receive between $75 and $99 per month and once their rent, food and clothing expenses are deducted there is little left for transportation which has now become a major cost."

"The city and the government are currently building them a beautiful activity centre in Centennial Square which they will be unable to get to," said Mrs. Horne.

"Some of these people are disabled physically so walking, even two or three blocks, is out of the question."

"They can lead a pretty lonely existence if they are shut up in one room," she said.

Officials at Rose Manor are expecting a serious problem with shut-ins once the weather turns warm and the residents want to get out of their rooms.

Brigadier V. C. Underhill, superintendent of the Salvation Army's Matson Lodge, said today after the pensioners pay their $84 per month for room and board "there is precious little for transportation."

"Every little bit helps," he said.

'Bargain' Rates Start Monday

Student fares at 10 tickets for $1 become effective on Victoria buses Monday.

They will be acceptable only on school days between 7 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Cash fares remain at 15 cents, and may be paid at any time of the day, any day of the week, as long as a valid B.C. Hydro school certificate is shown when fares are paid.

Mr. Thorson spoke of the nation-wide campaign initiated by the Canadian Citizenship Council last December to advance the cause of human rights, and the publication of its Declaration of Objective and National Purpose.

He defined the council as a "voluntary, non-governmental organization concerned with the advancement of good citizenship," founded in 1940 as the Canadian Council of Education for Citizenship.

Mr. Thorson is on a public speaking tour of Canada accompanied by Alan Clarke, executive director of the Canadian Citizenship Council in Ottawa.

City to Oppose Gorge Dumping

Sewer Plans In Saanich Face Protest

The city of Victoria will fight a Saanich application to spill more sewage into the Colquitz River - Gorge waterway as part of a North Ridge subdivision expansion.

"We opposed this before," said Mayor R. B. Wilson, confirming that Victoria would instruct its solicitor T. P. O'Grady to object to any increase in the flow of treated sewage into the natural waterway.

He referred to the previous agreement that allows Saanich to put treated sewage into Colquitz at Carey Road, a volume of up to 35,000 gallons daily, approved before Greater Victoria came under jurisdiction of the provincial pollution control board.

Now, the Saanich application to double capacity of the treatment plant must have the sanction of the pollution control board.

It is expected the board will disallow the application in view of the forthcoming metropolitan sewage study, or refer it to a public hearing.

MEETING DUE
The board's course will be decided at a meeting late this month or early in February.

"I don't think it is in the public interest to dump sewage into the Gorge. That's what sewers are for," Mayor Wilson said.

The sentiment is echoed by Ald. Geoffrey Edgewood, chairman of Gorge Waterway Improvement Association.

He said it has taken years for the municipality of Esquimalt, Victoria and Saanich to agree to discontinue putting raw sewage into the Gorge, resulting finally in its being approved for swimming.

'END OF GORGE'
To increase the amount of effluent going into the Gorge can only have a detrimental effect on it as a natural beauty spot suitable for recreation purposes, he feels.

"It could mean the end of the Gorge," Ald. Edgewood said.

Objections to the Saanich application should be made to the municipal clerk by Monday, deadline for a 30-day waiting period.

New Group To Control Recreation?

All municipal recreation facilities excepting playgrounds are expected to come under control of a new committee of city council.

Ald. A. W. Toone Thursday said recreation and community services advisory committee, of which he is chairman, suggests its advisory role be ended, enabling it to be a working committee of council.

In this role it is anticipated that McPherson Playhouse, senior citizens' recreation centre, Royal Athletic Park, Memorial Arena, Crystal Garden and Macdonald Park, to name the major facilities, would come under the committee's jurisdiction.

Centennial Square and Crystal Garden are the only ones dealt with by the committee as it stands.

BITE'S COMING

Look Daggers At Taggers, You Waggers!

By TERRY IZZARD

Is yours one of those houses blessed by the pitter-patter of tiny feet?

Does the postman look a little more apprehensive each time he calls?

Has your weekly food bill begun to soar over the past few months?

If the answer to all these questions is "Yes," then the chances are you're now the proud slave of a bouncing dog. But take heed!

Your troubles are just beginning.

In the near future the soft padding of your new-found pleasure across the living room rug could turn to the crunch-crunch of the dog, inspector mounting the drive.

TWO CHANCES
When his insistent knock finally pierces the quiet of your home you'll know you have two chances:

To bustle the innocent looking mutt out the back door, or dig into your wallet.

This will be no courtesy call. The man from the SPCA is after your money.

Hard as it may seem, that Christmas bundle of fluff is going to cost you between $3 and $10.

And he's going to go on costing you that each year until he passes on to the land of eternal lamp posts.

Big or small, fat or thin, polished or tatty; these are the licensing fees set on your pet's head.

And this is the time of year you're likely to be collared.

TWO HIRED
As in past years the SPCA is taking on two men to bound the trails of money-shy dog lovers in Greater Victoria.

Once again they will prowl each block and side alley, sniffing out would-be offenders.

When they eventually run those offenders to ground it will be a matter of "Pay up or else."

The "or else" bit could mean a $5 or $10 fine, plus the cost of a licence.

SPCA chief David Beeching warns that Victoria residents have until March 1 to pay their dues.

After that the cost for a male will rise from $4 to $5; for a female from $3 to $4.

Costs in neighboring municipalities vary slightly.

If you're thinking of slipping Bonzo over to Granny's for a few weeks... forget it.

These collectors can smell a dog a mile off.

At least Mr. Beeching claims they have a near-foolproof way of tracking down canines... all 5,000 of them in Victoria, Oak Bay and Esquimalt.

So beware of the dog collector.

"JUST MY DOGGONE LUCK to get caught by the licensing inspector. Wish those owners of mine would hurry and pay out their $4." The little fellow needn't worry just yet though. He's safe until March 1.

MOONIE COMMITTED

A 21-year-old Saanich man was formally committed for trial this morning on the charge of non-capital murder of his father.

Gary Moonie, 170 Hartland, was taken into formal custody after the committal.

Then Mr. Justice J. G. Rutland continued bail of $5,000.

SKI REPORT

Skiers were planning today for their first weekend trip of the new year to the Green Mountain Lodge.

Access roads in the Nanaimo Lakes area were finally cleared to K-30 this morning by a snow blower. However, drivers are advised to carry chains.

Sno Birds Ski Club officials at noon reported sunny skies, 45-degree temperature and 80 inches of well-packed snow.

They said three tows will be in operation over the weekend and a snowmobile will be running to the lodge.

Ask The Times

Q. Can a person obtain a marriage licence and be married the same day in the state of Washington, U.S.A.? R.R.

A. No. Applicants for a marriage licence in Washington State must wait three days, not counting the date of application, before a marriage licence may be issued.

Q. Would you please tell me why the Hanes Sisters are not on Country Hoedown anymore and why Gordie Tapp doesn't say so? M.P.

A. The Hanes Sisters no longer appear on CBC's Country Hoedown because they were not satisfied with the contract offered them this season.

It is not customary for contractual differences to be aired on a television show.

It's All In a Dish If You're In a Rush

By Penny Saver

Ever had one of those days when nothing goes right? That was my story yesterday. It wasn't enough that I didn't manage to finish all my housework, but unexpected guests dropped in for dinner. What was I going to serve them?

The answer didn't prove to be too hard after all, for just that morning I came across a simple-to-prepare, meal-in-one. It's a delicious combination of tasty golden noodles topped with tangy Romanoff sauce.

Fit for a gourmet, the sauce is flavored with fine aged cheese. And the whole dish takes only 12 minutes to prepare. It sells for 49 cents and the package gives directions for making it as well as such additional recipes as Carnival Casserole.

Ideal for a casual dinner party for four, is another meal-in-a-package—richly flavored cheese souffle. Perfect served with asparagus or a fruit salad and rolls, this sumptuous dinner idea sells at 79 cents a package.

Another way to round out the dinner menu is to serve broiled tomato halves topped with bacon slices. Or, top the souffle with a special tuna, mushroom or Creole sauce. Recipe for tuna sauce is included with package directions.

The company that produces these two dishes has not failed to include an idea for the teen-age set. Within minutes you can bring the flavor of real Italian pizza into your home.

Selling at 59 cents is a delightful pizza pie mix that can be whipped up in a mere 20 minutes. It combines a 14-inch, crispy, one-step crust with Italian style sauce and aged Parmesan cheese.

To give it your own touch, add anchovy fillets, cooked onion rings, cooked sliced mushrooms, ground beef, pepperoni, bacon or pork sausage. It's ideal for a party, too.

Looking for a quick dinner-in-a-dish idea? Then call Penny at 382-3131 and find out where she shopped today.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Be Specific and Plan Your Attack Against Overweight

This is the fifth in a series of articles in which Josephine Lowman is offering guidance in figure molding. The series tells you what to do for a short eight-week period to lose up to 20 pounds, improve your figure, and spruce up your general appearance.

Her articles on this plan will appear each day through next Wednesday, to be followed by one article each week for the remaining six weeks of the routine.

I think one of the main reasons women procrastinate about losing weight is because it is so vague. "I'm going to lose some weight" is so different from "I am going to lose 15 to 20 pounds in the next eight weeks," or "I'm going to lose 10 pounds in the next month," or "I'm going to lose five pounds in the next 10 days."

Also many women do not know just how to proceed in order to reach their goal. My Beauty Improvement Plan which appears each January in my column takes care of all that for tens of thousands of women each year. Many of you who have been reading my column this week have already weighed and measured yourselves according to instructions given you. I hope you have already begun counting calories and are beginning to do the two exercises I gave you yesterday.

I think that how often you weigh has a big psychological impact on a reducer. I believe you should weigh either once a week or every day. If you weigh yourself, in a hit or miss fashion, it is frustrating. You may diet for several days and then have a loss of two pounds suddenly.

I always felt that it was best to weigh once a week until I tried out my chart for day by day weighing. Comments from readers were so enthusiastic that I have decided that the visual impact of seeing your weight line drop or remain the same or rise, is the more exciting and effective method. It puts pressure on the reducer, too.

My BIP Weight Chart, which comes with the BIP Kit, is fun because you can watch your beauty line rise as your weight line drops. However, you can make a simple one at home if you wish. Draw squares on a large piece of cardboard. There should be 56 squares across the top of the cardboard, each square representing one day for the next eight weeks.

There should be 20 squares from the top of the cardboard to the bottom, each square representing a pound. Write your present weight in the top left-hand square. When you lose a pound bring the line down a square. If you remain the same weight the line moves straight across the page for as many days as your weight remains stable. If you gain a pound or so the line moves up a square or two. This really makes you careful about calorie counting.

You should weigh at the same time each day, preferably the first thing in the morning, and without clothes. If you do not have scales at your home and must weigh elsewhere be sure to wear the same weight clothes each time you weigh. In other words, do not weigh one time with a coat on and another without one, or one time in a heavy woolen outfit and another in a light silk one.

Today I want to give you a waist slimming exercise to add to your exercise routine. I have already given you one for the abdomen and one for the hips. Stand tall with your feet comfortably separated. Place both hands on the top of your head. Bend to the left, bringing your left elbow down toward your left knee. Raise the trunk. This time bend to the right, bringing your right elbow down toward your right knee. Keep the hands on the head and the knees stiff throughout this exercise.

posing the gear shift is between the two seats? Please answer in the paper because I know other girls who have the same problem.

NOT CLOSE ENOUGH

DEAR NOT: The girl sits in the bucket seat BESIDE the driver. The problem of distance between the girl and her date is a mere drop in the bucket compared to those she'll run into if she tries to occupy the "no girl's land" between the seats. Sit where you belong. He can't drive for ever.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter was raised in a good Christian home but you would never know it from the way she has acted since she was 14. She is 22 now and is going through her third divorce. She could never keep a husband because she was crazy about men. And the lower they were, the better she liked them.

She is under a doctor's care now and the doctor told me my daughter ruins with bums because of a "VITAMIN DEFICIENCY." Is this possible? CAN'T BELIEVE IT

DEAR CAN'T: Your daughter's deficiency strikes me as more moral than physical, but maybe the doctor is right. After he fills her full of vitamins, you'll find out.

SEW SIMPLE WITH Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer:

I want to alter a man's sports coat. The sleeves and shoulder seams will be taken up at the shoulders. What will I have to do to make the sleeve fit and is this too big a job for an amateur?

Mrs. M. S. J.

Dear Mrs. M. S. J.: If you are making the shoulder seams larger, the sleeve would be too large. You will have to make the two sleeve seams a little larger to compensate for this.

It is always tricky to alter men's clothes. If a professional tailor is available I would certainly advise him to do it, especially if you are inexperienced. As I always tell my pupils, men's clothes must be tailored perfectly. On them you simply can't "pin a rose over a boo-boo"! Fortunately for us gals, if something doesn't work out perfectly for us, we can use our creative talents and come up with some salvation. But men's clothes don't warrant this type of creative talent. In most cases it would be better to save money on your own clothes and leave the men's clothes alone.

A news flash from England, only a few weeks ago, was, "Jacques Tiffeau is the United States winner of the London Sunday Times Fashion Award." Jacques Tiffeau, designer for Tiffeau Busch, always is in on the wave lengths, of fashion-conscious people, the world over. This coat (or wear it as a coat dress) expresses the "gentle lady" look the fashion reporters are talking about. Shaped front seaming ends in vertical piped pockets. With this design, he wraps up lots of news; the high set-in sleeves and they are narrower; the empire-tied sash that is drawn through a buttonhole at the top stitching. Notice the stand-up-straight collar that is set away from the neck, to make it look longer and more swan-like (also, the front side-closing with snap fasteners). Sitting, as well as standing, could make this handsome spring coat, or for warmer places, linen, pique, shantung, and raw silk are equally smart. Spadea's exclusive ready-to-wear sizes produce a better fit. See chart for size best for you.

Looking for BARGAIN-PRICE DIAMONDS?

People are often lured by "bargain prices" for diamonds. But the amount you pay for a diamond is in no way a measurement of the value you are actually getting.

If you don't know diamonds, how are you to know if you are getting a fine diamond at a low price, or just a "cheap" diamond at a cheap price.

Your only protection lies in your selection of a jeweller whose integrity and knowledge you can trust... a jeweller like BIRKS, Canada's largest jewellers, diamond specialists for four generations. Birks are active members of The American Gem Society. As Registered Jewellers, we can offer our knowledge — our experience — and skill as your assurance of quality.

PRESIDENT'S FAVORITE COLOR

Details of Mrs. Johnson's Gown Released by White House Today

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson will wear a classic jonquil yellow heavy satin gown with a matching floor length evening coat cuffed in sable to the inaugural balls, the White House announced today.

The first lady's ensemble was created by New York designer, John Moore, a native of Oklahoma who grew up in Texas. He now is one of the leaders in America's fashion industry.

The president's daughters also will be on parade that night. Lynda Bird, 20, will wear a white silk gown and a double-breasted, white ottoman silk coat with rhinestone buttons and white accessories.

Black haired Luci, 17, picked a rose petal pink satin dress with beaded bodice, a scoop neckline and a gently full skirt. She will wear matching pink shoes, long white gloves and the new pearl earrings her mother gave her for Christmas.

The second lady of the U.S., Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey, wife of the vice-president-elect, selected a gown of sheer ribbon lace in varied blue and lavender "wisteria" tones with a matching full length collarless coat by Count Sarni, a New York designer, formerly of Italian royalty.

SEEKS 'TIMELESSNESS'

"Mrs. Johnson was looking for a gown that had timelessness and understated elegance," said her press secretary, Elizabeth Carpenter. "She hopes she came close to it. She feels it is a joyous color."

She wanted the "timeless" look because the ballgown eventually will wind up in the first lady collection at the Smithsonian Institution, replacing the long dress she has temporarily on display.

The president "hasn't seen the inaugural ballgown yet but Mrs. Johnson has described it to him," Mrs. Carpenter said. She noted that yellow is the president's "favorite color" for his wife.

In naming the designer, the White House broke its own policy of anonymity for makers of the First Family's clothes. It did so because of the "special occasion and the intense interest" in the First Lady's new wardrobe, Mrs. Carpenter said.

She said Moore was picked because Mrs. Johnson heard about him and asked him to submit sketches, which she approved. The First Lady's gown has a bateau neckline and small wing-capped sleeves. The dress has a raised waistline and a slight fullness flowing to the back.

Her coat falls from narrow shoulders to a wider hem and features a queenly standup collar with elbow-length sleeves circled in natural sables.

ANNIVERSARY GIFT

Mrs. Johnson plans to wear a single strand of pearls and the diamond and gold earrings given to her by her husband on their 30th wedding anniversary last Nov. 17.

The First Lady and Lynda got dolled up in their gowns last Saturday to pose for pictures. Luci passed up the picture-taking to cram for final exams which were pushed a week ahead so she could take in the inaugural festivities.

"They can see me at the ball," Luci explained when asked why she had not had an official photograph taken in her gown. The Johnson girls did their shopping in Washington, Texas and New York. They made their own selections. Their designers' names are being kept secret. Mrs. Johnson purchased her gown through Neiman Marcus, the Dallas store where she has shopped since she was a young girl.

Group Lists Donations

A list of donations made by the Victoria Purple Star No. 104, Local Orange Benevolent Association, was made known when the group held its installation of officers recently. Donations were made to the Loyal Protestant Home in New Westminster, the local Protestant Orphanage, Orange Rest Home, hall building fund, cancer fund, Red Cross, heart fund, multiple sclerosis group and the Salvation Army. The group also assisted the "Misor" share-a-loaf project through the Victoria Council of Women, of which the group is an associate member.

Installing officer was Mrs. Bert Noel, past grand mistress of British Columbia. She was assisted by Mrs. E. Bell, Mrs. I. S. Burt, Mrs. M. Joyce, Mrs. M. Beckley and Mrs. V. Elwood.

Mrs. L. Hamilton was installed as worthy mistress. Also installed were Mrs. M. Waddell, deputy mistress; Mrs. J. Johnson, junior deputy mistress; Mrs. O. Bradshaw, recording secretary; Mrs. E. Bousfield, financial secretary; Mrs. B. E. Blevins, treasurer; Mrs. E. Stanfield, chaplain; Mrs. R. Alexander, guardian; Mrs. S. Gallagher, director of ceremonies; Mrs. M. Burt, first lecturer; Mrs. A. McKerran, second; Mrs. O. McKay, pianist; Mrs. E. Harris and Mrs. E. King, guards.

Committee chairmen are Mrs. G. Davies, Mrs. Bell, Mrs. Noel and Mrs. D. Henry. Auditors are Mrs. I. S. Burt, Mrs. Noel and Mrs. Bell.

Mrs. Bell and Mrs. M. Burt were appointed guardians for the Junior Orange League. Mrs. B. Wright, retiring worthy mistress, was presented with a scroll, read by Mrs. L. Hamilton. A past mistress jewel was presented by Mrs. Waddell.

DIAL 54-50-50

Sweden Becomes Paradise With Telephone Service

STOCKHOLM (Reuters)—Bored businessmen visiting Sweden can relax during spare evenings here with the girl of their dreams—provided that their wallets are well padded with hard cash.

They have only to dial 54-50-50 and an attractive, intelligent Swedish girl is ready to show them the city highlights.

The telephone line, which is almost invariably busy, leads to Slim Turpin, managing director of Handelsbolaget K. Selander and Company. He has access to some 50 pretty girls all waiting for a pleasant evening out.

They are trained not only to entertain visitors, but also to act as city guides, interpreters and hostesses at industrial exhibitions.

The client pays 25 crowns (about $5) an hour for the girl in addition to all costs incurred

BE SMART—

BIRTH CONTROL

New Program Launched In New York

NEW YORK (AP)—A maternity care program, backed by federal funds and including free birth control aid in low-income neighborhoods, is operating here without any signs of religious friction.

The situation is seen by some specialists in the field as indicating increased interfaith understanding on approaches to birth control.

"Areas of agreement are broadening all over the country," a spokesman for the Planned Parenthood Federation of America says. "The old-fashioned struggles have become the exception."

The city health department disclosed recently that through a federal grant of $1,400,000 it has launched five maternity-care clinics in poorer sections, with four others scheduled to be opened soon.

Along with a comprehensive program of pre-natal care, the clinics offer birth control materials and advice.

There was no immediate comment on the program from the New York archdiocese of the Roman Catholic Church, which has long condemned artificial means of birth control. New York City's population is 45 per cent Catholic.

However, Rt. Rev. Msgr. Patrick J. Frawley, director of Roman Catholic hospitals in the archdiocese, said he thought "the program in its broad aspects is most acceptable." "Families should be free to act in accordance with their conscience and convictions," he said.

Two Catholic hospitals, St. Vincent's in Manhattan and St. Catherine's in Brooklyn, are supervising two of the program's clinics. Both offer instruction in the rhythm method of birth control, which is acceptable to the Roman Catholic Church.

At the other clinics, however, mothers may obtain birth control pills and contraceptive devices.

UPS AND DOWNS

City Wages Own War Aided by Umbrellas

By MARLENE GLASSFORD

Victorians have no need for nuclear weapons — they have their own secret army with a bevy of weapons far more lethal than these. The age of the recruits ranges anywhere from teenagers on up to matronly ladies and stately old gents. And practically any day of the week you can see them practising a series of manoeuvres as they parade staunchly through the streets with weapons proudly displayed over their shoulders.

Who are these people and what is their business? They are the multitude of Victorians from all walks of life who sprout umbrellas at the first hint of rain, snow or wind.

The weapons are the bumbushes that appear out of nowhere with the least provocation. And, those who rate the name of "enemy" are we unconventional types who have turned "bumbushes" on these dual-purpose bits of cloth and metal.

Unsuspecting that the little old lady rapidly approaching is about to "do you in," we carry on nonchalantly about our business—that is, until we feel a spoke of the umbrella painfully grazing a not-too-thick skull.

An even more unlikely suspect is the jolly old gent who regularly buys his daily paper at a downtown corner and gaily tips his hat to all the passersby. Little do we know that, one day, he too will turn against us with umbrella at the ready.

Seeking a vantage point in a sheltered doorway at the first sign of clouds, the wary can reconnoitre without danger of losing an eye or having a hat unceremoniously disengaged from its moorings.

As you watch, weapons are hauled out of the most inconspicuous hiding places... off the tops of purses, from behind backs and from within that innocent looking oblong of material that swings from milady's wrist.

Suddenly, all and sundry—even those fully armed—quicken their pace with a sudden urge to get to wherever it is they are going.

Now is the time to practise unconcern and dart as swiftly as possible from store to store, aided by a quick jab from the umbrella at anyone who dares block their path. As the rain diminishes, normalcy returns, umbrellas are restored to former hiding places, the little old lady once again takes on her disguise as anyone's sweet old granny, and gentlemen again revert to tipping hats.

Now it's your turn. Carefully calculating the distance between your present shelter and the next inviting doorway, you take one last deep breath, hope for the best and are off.

Your next stop—to sag exhausted in the nearest chair and place your order for an umbrella.

SOLUTION MONDAY

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question an Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Lise Thompson, age 12, of Seattle, Wash., for her question:

What is tungsten?

This sturdy metallic element was discovered by a German scientist in 1783 and given the name wolfram in his honor. In Sweden, however, it was given the name tungsten, meaning the heavy stone. The name wolfram was adopted by the world of science. The name tungsten became popular with the practical people who found uses for the tough element in the manufacturing of metal alloys and electronic equipment, dyes and fireproofing for the textile industry.

In everyday language it is most often called tungsten. In everyday life, as a rule, it is nearest to use inside an ordinary electric light bulb. The fine filament that joins the metal spikes inside a light bulb must be able to hold together and endure under great heat. Most metals soon fall apart under such conditions, but tungsten has just the right quality for the job. Its melting point is 6170 degrees Fahrenheit. It can stand twice as much heat as iron, and its melting point is higher than any other metal.

Tungsten is also a hard metal, second in hardness only to the diamond. What's more, it shares its hardness when alloyed with other metals. Alloys of tungsten and steel are harder, stronger and more pliable than ordinary steel. Tools of tungsten-steel are five times more workable than those of plain steel. Tungsten knives sharper and tungsten cutting machines perform at the highest speeds. Tungsten tips are used on those up-to-date so-called painless drills used by the dentist.

Heavier Than Lead

Tungsten is one of the heaviest elements, almost twice as heavy as lead. It has great tensile strength and refuses to break under pressure. A rod of tungsten one inch thick can support 250 tons. It remains strong when stretched into fine threads. The filaments used in light bulbs and vacuum tubes may be six times thinner than a human hair. Hard and durable tungsten also is used to make automobile parts. A compound of tungsten and sodium is used for fireproofing textiles. A pasty white substance of lead and tungsten is used as a paint to which may be added an assortment of rainbow pigments.

In nature, tungsten is never found in its pure form, and the rare element makes up less than one-thousandth part of 1 per cent of the earth's crust. Its most common ores are scheelite and wolframite, and the job of separating the durable element from other minerals in its ores is both difficult and costly. At one time pure tungsten was more costly than gold. Most of the world's tungsten ores are mined in China. The second tungsten-producing country is the United States, where the ores are mined in California and Nevada, Idaho and North Carolina.

VOICE OF BROADWAY

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

MISS MIDNIGHT'S NOTEBOOK: Lincoln Kersteln has commissioned a ballet for next year's City Center Repertory, the choreography being patterned by George Balanchine to Igor Stravinsky music. It will be performed as a combination of live action and film, using Francis Thompson's three-screen format which was the sensation of the World's Fair.

The most puzzling announcement of the week has Silvana Mangano set to portray Greta Garbo in an Italian film which will trace the life of the great Swedish actress from the days when she was an unknown to the time of her triumph in Hollywood. First question: Can they do that without Garbo's permission, and would she give it. (One would think not, since Hollywood would pay her more money and certainly should be able to turn out a more realistic movie, since that's where it all happened.) Then there's the matter of Miss Mangano hardly being Scandinavian in appearance or in the right age group to play the young Garbo.

Topo Gigio, the Italian mouse, probably will be acquired by Joe Levine for a television series slanted for the kiddie market. Madame Peregio, who owns Topo and his puppet friends, is making pilots—in color—in Italy and is due here later this month, bringing them with her.

The boat has sailed for the Michelangelo—not the ship, but the restaurant next door to the Copa. It's the newest midtown show palace to shutter... Vivien Leigh is having problems again... Some sort of Broadway history is being created at the Martin Beck Theatre nightly, where Buddy Hackett bounces out after the curtain calls and does a standup nightclub act for 40 minutes or more. The audiences seem to love it, and Buddy has a ball twitting the critics, praising fellow-comics, and occasionally doing his famous Chinese waiter routine, which he hasn't performed in New York in six years.

The Stork Club may become the setting for another TV show. The one several years ago made Sherman Billingsley the darling of the housewives and attracted practically every glamorous celebrity in town... Europe's popular singer-actor Freddy Quinn will use both his names—Freddy Quinn—when he comes to the United States. He's sold about 16,000,000 records abroad, and starred in 13 films, including one with Jayne Mansfield. As soon as he arrives here, he'll be given the big ballyhoo treatment... Eleanor Parker and her artist husband, Paul Clements, held a long conference in hopes of reconciliation, but

Famed Tug Turmoil To Be Sold For Scrap

LONDON (AP) — The Turmoil, the British tug remembered for her rescue attempt in the Flying Enterprise sea drama in 1952, is up for sale for scrap.

The Turmoil, a 20-year-old, 1,136-ton ocean-going vessel, now lies rusting at Milford Haven in west Wales.

The Turmoil went to the rescue of the American freighter Flying Enterprise, bound from Hamburg to New York, after she was caught in an Atlantic gale and flung on her side by a giant wave.

Everyone abandoned the freighter except Capt. Kurt Carlsen. As other ships headed for port, Turmoil put out and reached the Flying Enterprise Jan. 5, 1952.

Seven times the Turmoil tried to get a tow-rope aboard the stricken freighter and failed.

The next day, as the vessels lurched crazily in the huge seas, the Turmoil's mate, Kenneth Dancy, jumped aboard the Flying Enterprise and joined Carlsen. The tow was secured.

For six days the Turmoil, with Capt. Dan Parker in charge, towed the freighter toward safety. Then, when only 42 miles from the British coast, the tow line snapped and Carlsen and Dancy jumped into the sea. The Flying Enterprise went down.

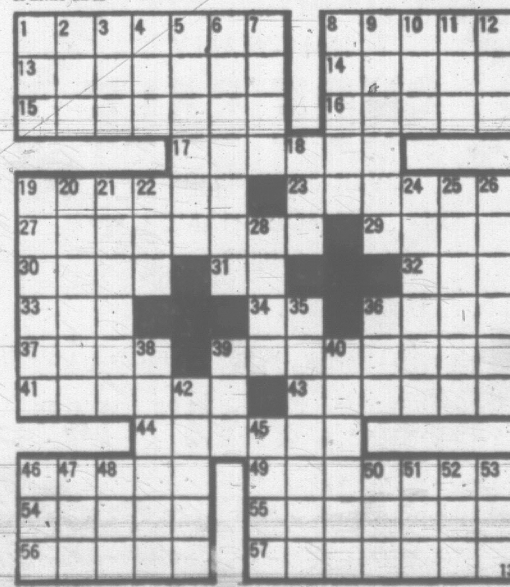

Carlsen has been sailing another Flying Enterprise for the last 12 years; Dancy has a shore job in The Netherlands. Parker died after a fall aboard the tug in 1955.

Adult Drama

Royal Theatre

Warner Brothers' version of Herman Wouk's giant novel is less life-like on film than it was in print; but James Franciscus manages to hold interest as the ambitious truck driver who becomes a successful novelist, then falls victim to the snares of fame.

What the film lacks is the cohesiveness and integrity of the book. The crisp dialogue is matched by some good acting but somewhere along the line the story misses fire and becomes more soap opera than drama.

As in the novel, the truck driver slaves at his desk by

NDP, Liberal Merger Claim Denied

OTTAWA (CP)—Russell Brown, national director of the New Democratic Party, Thursday denied a Saint John, N.B., press report which said he spoke of a growing possibility of affiliation between his party and the Liberals.

The Saint John report also quoted Mr. Brown as saying in an interview Wednesday that "something may be worked out between the NDP and Liberals."

In a statement in Ottawa Thursday, Mr. Brown said he categorically denied stating there is a growing possibility of affiliation between the two parties.

"In fact, I said there was no possibility of this taking place. What I did say was that in some provinces where the Liberals are out of office their public statements might indicate that their thinking is similar to the NDP."

LIFE'S PROBLEMS

Women Find Answers in TV Soap Operas

TORONTO (CP)—Some women "rely on television soap operas for answers" to problems encountered in family life, a United States woman psychologist said Wednesday.

Dr. Eleanor Maccoy, director of Stanford University's human development laboratory, Stanford, Calif., said "it is a sad state of affairs" when some women depend for answers on a script spoken by a TV actor or actress.

Dr. Maccoy addressed a conference sponsored by the National Council of Churches of

'RCs Complain' Against Play, The Deputy

TORONTO (CP)—The Crest Theatre was flooded with telephone calls Thursday about its current production The Deputy, which criticizes Pope Pius XII.

"I've been getting a lot of calls today from Roman Catholics," a theatre spokesman said.

"One woman said she thought our advertising was libellous, that her son now was being discriminated against in his office because he is a Catholic and that it was a terrible time to bring the play here when we should all be thinking about brotherhood, and not hating each other."

The play, by Hochhuth of Germany, criticizes the late pope for not speaking out against the mass extermination of the Jews by the Nazis during the Second World War.

Christ in the U.S. on children and TV.

The five-day conference, attended by about 75 church delegates and Canadian and U.S. leaders in the audio-visual fields of communication, ends Friday. Its sessions Thursday and Friday will be held in private.

Dr. Maccoy said cases have been recorded of abnormal behavior in some children after watching TV.

"But the TV industry should not be blamed every time a new juvenile delinquent appears," she said. "What about the millions of other children who see the same programs but don't get into trouble?"

GIVES OBSERVATIONS
Dr. Maccoy made these observations:

—In "Teletown," disguised name of a city in the U.S., children in homes with TV were found to have "advanced" vocabularies for children of their age when they first started school.

—The lower the intelligence of a child, the more he watches TV.

—TV watching does not deter U.S. children from doing school homework, but in Japan it has a marked effect on boys and none on girls.

—TV watching is not responsible for causing children to stay home rather than attend Sunday school. Studies have shown these children lack a basic interest in religion.

—TV watchers among U.S. children go to bed 15 to 30 minutes later than children who don't watch TV.

—In some homes where babies' playpens are placed near TV sets there have been cases where the infants' first words have been the names of TV actors or a sponsor's product.

—Young viewers don't participate much in organized youth books may suffer and they don't spend much time listening to radio.

—Watching TV does not deter children from practising music lessons.

Dr. Maccoy said television may produce "stereotyped thinking" among some viewers but the kind of household a child is raised in will affect what he may try to do after watching programs of violence.

RIVARD CASE

Raising Money Easy For Wife

MONTREAL (CP)—The Dorion judicial inquiry lived up Thursday with the dramatic entrance of Mrs. Marie Rivard, a key witness and the striking, shapely wife of narcotics suspect Lucien Rivard.

In her first hour in the witness box, she testified that she moved quickly after her husband was arrested here last June at the request of the United States government and took these steps:

1. In four days, she easily raised $60,000 in cash and deposited the money at a downtown trust company branch so that it would be available as soon as a judge agreed to her husband's application for release on bail.

2. She made arrangements with Liberal election organizer Guy Masson to rush to Ottawa-Hull to consult a "specialist" who would help Rivard get bail, she hoped. She gave Mr. Masson $1,000 in cash to cover his "expenses and errands."

3. She received help and encouragement in her efforts to arrange bail from two "intimate friends" of her husband.

GIGNAC HELPED

They were Robert Gignac, charged three months later with capital murder in an apparent underworld execution, and Eddy Lechasseur, then facing nine charges in a $67,000 bankruptcy fraud case. (Lechasseur was freed later for lack of evidence.)

Testifying in a sitting position because her lawyer said she was under strain, Mrs. Rivard, 34, repeatedly drew derisive laughter from spectators and skeptical remarks from Quebec Chief Justice Frederic Dorion and Commission Counsel Andre Desjardins.

Mr. Justice Dorion and Mr. Desjardins said it should be explained why Mr. Masson, Gignac and Lechasseur drove to Ottawa and Hull on the night of June 22-23 to try to arrange bail for Rivard when the Canadian government had nothing to do with his case.

Rivard, 38, is wanted in Laredo, Texas, on charges of smuggling heroin for a Mafia-ruled syndicate. He has been in Bordeaux Jail here since June 19 fighting extradition to the U.S. and applying insistently for release on bail and later on habeas corpus.

Gignac testified earlier that Mr. Masson met a Mr. Denis at a midnight rendezvous in a Hull hotel in June to discuss Rivard's bail application.

TELLS OF OFFER

Pierre Lamontagne, U.S. government counsel seeking Rivard's extradition, has testified that Raymond Denis, then executive assistant to Immigration Minister Tremblay, offered him a $20,000 bribe July 14 to help free Rivard.

He said he rejected the bribe offer from his "excellent friend" and continued to oppose bail because he feared Rivard would skip out of the country as soon as he was released.

Mrs. Rivard provoked gales of laughter in the packed courtroom as she told how she raised $60,000 in the days following her husband's arrest. "I didn't have much difficulty," she said.

Her brother-in-law, Ovide (Dave) Gagnon, had come across with $20,000. She said he is a gate-keeper, ticket-seller and odd-job painter at the north-end Plage Ideale summer resort, owned by her husband until recently. She didn't know where Dave borrowed the $20,000.

Bill Lamy, a local grocer and friend, had loaned her $17,000. Another $15,000 had been borrowed at three or four per cent interest from the Banque Provinciale branch at St. Eustache, Que., on the recommendation of Roger Aubin, a friend and hotelkeeper.

She said she borrowed $5,000 from Plage Ideale Incorporated and put up the remaining $3,000 from personal savings.

She decided to raise the money after Raymond Daoust, Rivard's lawyer, and Mr. Masson had told her that there was a chance her husband would obtain bail, but that the amount could go as high as $50,000 or $60,000.

Mrs. Rivard, dressed elegantly and with long auburn hair, testified softly in correct French. She continues her testimony today and Mr. Justice Dorion, in a new departure, warned her not to discuss her testimony with anyone.

STORE HOURS FIGHT

'Monopoly-Minded' Hit

Semi-metro isn't the answer to stores remaining open late, a spokesman for the Retail Merchants' Association says.

Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell suggested the semi-metro principle could be used to overcome the problem.

Gerry Merrill, Vancouver Island representative for the Retail Merchants' Association, quoted a municipal clerk as saying "there is no point of a merchant trying to complain because there is no law."

He felt "monopoly-minded corporate structures" are forcing B.C. businessmen to the wall.

"They are not satisfied to come to our province, enjoy our hospitality and garner a large share of our dollars."

"No, they bring their own set of rules and if B.C. businessmen don't jump with alacrity, they bring to bear all the power of their huge resources and force their rules upon us."

Air Blast Button To Prevent Skids?

DETROIT (AP)—An airblast device may be used to prevent car tires from skidding on wet pavements.

The report came from a paper presented to the Society of Automotive Engineers.

Walter B. Horne and Upshur T. Joyner of the U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration said that at a certain speed a pneumatic tire on a flooded pavement can ride up on the water and glide along the surface in a manner similar to the water ski.

When this happens, steering ability to the tire is completely lost and braking ability drops to a value little better than on wet ice, they said. As a possible solution, an air blast could be directed downward in front of the tire to remove water.

Farm Worker Import Rejected by Minister

B.C. Agriculture Minister Frank Richter Thursday opposed importation of temporary farm laborers because they are not needed.

"I think we have all the farm laborers we need in the province right now if they're dispersed in the right areas at the right times," he said.

The minister rejected the B.C. Federation of Agriculture's suggestion that Mexican or Chinese crop pickers should be brought in for temporary work.

"I'm not in favor of importing seasonal workers because it's not necessary," he said in an interview.

"It's just a matter of organization and logistics in using our own workers and both the provincial and federal departments are working on this right now." He said many seasonal workers are available in Vancouver but they do not wish to go out on the farms now because there is insufficient housing for them.

Churchill Suffers a Stroke

THREE YOUNGSTERS DIE IN BLAZE AT SURREY

SURREY (UPI)—Three young children, the eldest four, died today as the result of a fire which swept through the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Neureuther in this suburban Vancouver community.

A spokesman for the Royal Columbian Hospital said all three children were dead on arrival at the hospital.

Dead were two Neureuther children, Brenda, 2, and William, 4. The other child was 14-month-old Brian, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Crockett, neighbors of the Neureuthers. The Crockett infant had been left at the Neureuther home, while Mrs. Crockett was at work in Vancouver. Neureuther was at work at the time of the fire, while his wife had left their home for a brief period to take another child to kindergarten.

DORION PROBE

Rivard's Wife Hazy About Loan Return

(See Page 30)

MONTREAL (CP)—Mrs. Marie Rivard, 32-year-old wife of suspected narcotics smuggler Lucien Rivard, testified today she does not remember exactly when she paid back the $60,000 she had raised as her husband's bail.

She told the Dorion inquiry she withdrew the money in $1,000 bills from the Royal Trust Company around Sept. 20 and went to Montreal's Place Ville Marie and put it in a safety deposit box in the Ville Marie Trust.

She said she went to St. Eustache and paid back the $15,000 she had borrowed from a bank there.

She had returned $20,000 to Ovide (Dave) Gagnon, a gatekeeper at her husband's resort. She did not have any idea when she had returned this money, because she was "so anxious" to give it back.

She had returned $17,000 to Bill Lamy, a grocer, but she did not know whether it was the same day.

She had also given $6,000 to Gerry Turanne, her husband's business partner at the Plage Ideale resort.

Mrs. Rivard said she paid interest to the bank, but she did not know what amount. She had given Lamy $200 in interest at the same rate as the bank, but she did not remember the amount.

Rivard has been in Bordeaux jail since his arrest June 19. Mrs. Rivard testified Thursday she raised the money in four days in June and had deposited it in the Royal Trust Company for possible use as bail.

Mrs. Rivard also testified about an evening in July at Maxime's lounge with Eddy Lechasseur, Robert Gignac and Linda Dumont.

GIVEN NUMBER

She said Gignac, a murder suspect in another case, had given her the telephone number of Guy Masson at the Fontaine Bleu Motel in Hull, Que.

Gignac had earlier identified Masson as a Liberal party organizer who claimed to be enlisting the services of a so-called extradition expert in Ottawa to help her husband.

Mrs. Rivard said she gave this telephone number to her husband's lawyer Raymond Daoust.

She had called Mr. Daoust again later and had been told by him that he had talked to Masson.

Mrs. Rivard said Mr. Daoust Continued from Page 1

Tory Leadership Race Asked by Quebecers

DIEFENBAKER ... undismayed

By JOYCE FAIRBAIRN
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — A unanimous Quebec Conservative caucus has called for a leadership convention as the price of party unity.

It was a direct challenge to Opposition leader John Diefenbaker.

Leon Balcer, 47, backed by a vote of confidence as Quebec Conservative leader, wants an answer and the date for a convention from Tory national president Dalton K. Camp before the parliamentary session resumes Feb. 16.

Balcer and his nine Quebec colleagues yesterday issued their demands after weeks and months of uncertainty within their own ranks, and a dramatic eleventh hour decision.

At the end of the caucus Balcer had met briefly with Camp to inform him of the results.

Camp had flown into Montreal from Halifax where earlier this week he held discussions with veteran Tory member George Nowlan, Senator Wallace McCutcheon and New Brunswick Premier Robert Stanfield, all of whom have been touted as possible future national Tory leaders.

Balcer denied reports that he had been closeted with Camp prior to the caucus, but said he had been in touch with him and other national party officials by phone recently.

By implication the Quebec Tories said that John Diefenbaker had limited tenure as their national leader and must stand, if he wished, against other contenders at a duly constituted convention.

A formal letter to this effect was to be sent to Camp today. Diefenbaker's name was not mentioned in the communique delivered last night, but newsmen were told by Balcer to "draw your own conclusions."

Theo Ricard, who is Diefenbaker's strongest force within the Quebec wing, said: "We are

John D. Shrugs Off 'Hypothetical' Report

OTTAWA (UPI) — Opposition leader John Diefenbaker said today he had nothing to say on demands by his 10 Quebec members for a national leadership convention.

At the same time, he indicated he had no intention of resigning. "I have no information on this other than what I hear on the radio or read in the newspaper," Diefenbaker declared. "I haven't heard anything—no one has been in touch with me."

Pressed for comment on the demands for a leadership convention, Diefenbaker retorted: "The matter is hypothetical."

"I made clear my views (on resigning) when I arrived back from my holidays," he added. "They are completely unchanged in every way."

Auto Workers Call Strike; 10,000 Out

TORONTO (CP)—About 10,300 United Auto Workers (UAW) went on strike at Ford Motor Company of Canada plants in four Ontario centres today.

Workers at Oakville, Windsor, Welland and the Toronto suburb of North York struck officially at the 2 p.m. deadline set by the union last week in the absence of agreement on a new work contract.

A new offer by Ford earlier in the day came too late to avert the strike, a union spokesman said. The latest company offer was being studied by union leaders here as the deadline arrived.

Commenting on charges the Conservatives were threatened with losing Quebec support because of party politics, he replied:

"We have more members than we have ever had since 1908, with the exception of 1930 when we elected 25," Diefenbaker declared. "In fact the reaction I get from the province of Quebec now is that we'll have more members than we have now after the next election."

Newsprint will spin again from machines in the 1,150-man pulp and paper plant—the community's lifeblood.

In the residential area, workers will try to recover the last three of seven bodies from homes tossed and broken by Wednesday's killer snowslide.

Officials and RCMP in this company town, 300 miles up the Pacific coast from Vancouver, said more snow could be loosed by steady rain.

But lacking any measures to stop it, the 3,000 residents were sent back to their kitchens, schools, and jobs at the Crown Zellerbach Canada Limited plant.

Their warning of any new trouble will be six blasts from an RCMP siren above the town-site manager's office, which maintains radio communication with all parts of the stricken community.

The same wet weather, followed by a cold snap, is expected to continue through the weekend.

Family Gathers Near Bedside

LONDON (Reuters) — Sir Winston Churchill, Britain's wartime leader, suffered a stroke today at his London home.

Two physicians who examined the 90-year-old statesman described his illness as a cerebral thrombosis.

There was no indication whether it was a major stroke or a minor one.

A further medical bulletin on Churchill's condition will be issued later tonight.

The two physicians, Lord Moran, Churchill's personal doctor for 25 years, and Lord Brain, a leading neurologist, said the statesman had developed circulatory weakness following a cold.

The frail and aged former prime minister, who was 90 Nov. 30, had been unwell for the last few days.

Churchill's actress daughter, Sarah, telephoned London from Rome today to ask about her father and, late this afternoon, boarded a flight for home. But the plane developed mechanical trouble and had to turn back.

Other members of his family gathered at Churchill's London home this morning when the first news of his illness was made public.

A cerebral thrombosis is commonly called a stroke. A medical authority explained that its seriousness depends on the size of the stroke, its site and the area of the brain affected.

Dr. Harley Williams, director of Britain's Chest and Heart Association, which runs a special stroke rehabilitation service, said a stroke of the kind suffered by Churchill (cerebral thrombosis) is extremely serious in a person of any age.

"But one cannot say that it is more serious in Sir Winston's case, because he has remarkable vitality," Williams said. "In a person over 90, though, the powers of recuperation are not very great."

Churchill's youngest daughter, Mary, and her husband, Christopher Soames, who was minister of agriculture in the last Conservative government, hurried through the crowd into the house.

Both were grim-faced when they left an hour later.

Mrs. Soames, asked by reporters about her father's condition, did not reply. Her face puckered and she put out her hands in a sorrowful gesture.

Churchill's last public appearance was on his birthday last November when he appeared at the window of his home. Hundreds of persons who had waited in the rain for hours got a glimpse of the indomitable statesman.

Accidents and illnesses, particularly pleurisy and pneumonia, plagued Churchill during his career.

At the height of the Second World War, after the Tehran conference between him, Roosevelt and Stalin, Churchill was hit with pneumonia which almost ended his life.

He recovered, but was struck with pneumonia again, this time accompanied by pleurisy, while vacationing in France in 1958.

Again he came close to death and members of his family hurried to him from all parts of the world.

But after a two-week battle, Churchill again defeated his illness and recovered sufficiently to sit up in bed and smoke one of his famous cigars.

He remained active and fit and retained his parliamentary seat in the 1959 general election. Then in June, 1962, he slipped and fractured a thigh bone while on vacation in Monte Carlo.

Again, his tough constitution pulled him through two operations and complications. By the end of that August he was back in his London home.

But increasing age and infirmity forced him to announce his retirement in 1963. He did not run for re-election in the general elections last October.

Reporters and photographers thronged the narrow, one-way, dead-end street outside the black double doors of the Churchill home.

"I shall be dreadfully sorry if anything is to happen to the grand old man," said one of the bobbies on duty outside No. 28.

"He always looks for the policeman to exchange a word when he goes out."

The word of Churchill's illness appeared to spread slowly today. One little girl, Mary Rutherford, appeared on the scene with her tiny brother.

"Did you come to ask about Sir Winston?" she was asked.

"We came to see what was up," she replied.

As dusk fell along the chilly street, a housewife carrying bundles walked up to the reporters.

"Is it true?" she asked anxiously.

Lady Asquith, the former Lady Violet Bonham Carter, arrived presumably to comfort Lady Churchill.

Ocean Falls Seeks Victims As New Avalanches Feared

OCEAN FALLS, B.C. (CP)—Work was the therapy today for an isolated community numbed by one avalanche and fearful of more.

NEW DRINK THEORY

Thirsting For Holiness

LOS ANGELES (AP)—D. C. McClelland, a professor of psychology at Harvard, has come up with what may be a new answer to the age-old question: Why do people drink?

Says McClelland: "People drink because of a 'hunger for holiness.'"

The Harvard professor, here to give a series of lectures at the University of Southern California, said he had fed alcohol to human guinea pigs (volunteers) and found that they thought mostly about life, death, and eternity.

"Since it is religion that provides answers to such soul-searching questions it is possible that is why many religions are against liquor," he told an interviewer Thursday. "They see it as a competition."

McClelland said he found other common post-drinking concerns were sex, physical aggression, and health.

He said the latest company offer was being studied by union leaders here as the deadline arrived.

Newsprint will spin again from machines in the 1,150-man pulp and paper plant—the community's lifeblood.

In the residential area, workers will try to recover the last three of seven bodies from homes tossed and broken by Wednesday's killer snowslide.

calling for a convention. We have not said Mr. Diefenbaker must go. As Mr. Balcer said, draw your own conclusions."

Although Diefenbaker holds down the job of leader, which was reaffirmed by rank and file party delegates to the annual party meeting last February, Balcer said there was nothing in the party constitution which prohibited an executive decision on a leadership convention.

Diefenbaker had no comment to make on the communiqué and was scheduled to leave for his home constituency of Prince Albert tonight.

Camp also had no comment until he receives the letter, but did say there was no need to call a full-scale executive meeting to discuss Balcer's stand because there were other ways to gain a consensus. He said it was "unprecedented" for a leadership convention to be held while the office was occupied. Although the Quebec caucus did not set any time limit for a leadership convention, the minimum would be 66 days. Balcer said it must come before the next election. His personal opinion is that no national vote will be called before the second half of 1966.

"NO RIFT LIKELY"

Balcer, who is himself a member of the national executive,

RIVARD

told her that he did not trust her.

Mr. Daoust testified earlier in the hearings that Masson was leading Mrs. Rivard down the garden path and that Masson was peddling non-existent influence.

Mrs. Rivard said Mr. Daoust did not give her the telephone number of Montreal lawyer Pierre Lamontagne at Chicoutimi, Que., where he was, on holidays.

She said she didn't tell Mr. Daoust that bail had been arranged for her husband. There had been no mention of Mr. Lamontagne.

Mr. Lamontagne acting for the United States government which is trying to have Rivard extradited to Texas to face narcotics-smuggling charges, has testified to attempted bribery and coercion by federal ministerial aides to have him agree to bail for Rivard.

SUBJECTED TO THREATS

Mr. Lamontagne has said he was subjected to threats of blackmail by telephone late one night in July when he was on holiday in Chicoutimi.

The inquiry's hearing Thursday was enlivened by the dramatic entrance of Mrs. Rivard, a key witness.

Mrs. Rivard testified that at her husband's suggestion she went to see Raymond Rouleau, brother of Liberal MP Guy Rouleau, to find out why Canada could not extradite Hal Banks, deposed SIU boss who jumped bail, from the United States, yet the United States was going to extradite her husband. Both men had been charged with conspiracy.

She said this meeting occurred in the last week of July or the first week of August and she called Raymond Rouleau daily after that for about a month.

"At times he thought I was calling too often and said 'If I get any news, Mrs. Rivard, I'll call, you'."

'NOTHING NEW'

"He always told me there is nothing new, wait and be patient. . . . She said she never got any answer from Raymond Rouleau and had never seen nor spoken to Guy Rouleau, who resigned Nov. 24 as parliamentary secretary to prime minister saying he had made "normal" representations in the Rivard case.

At another point, Mrs. Rivard testified that during fortnightly visits to her husband in Bordeaux Jail she never told him about efforts of Masson or Gignac to get help from an extradition expert. However, she said she wasn't sure of that point.

She said she thought she had told her husband about collecting the $60,000 for his bail but could not remember that either. "I was so upset when I went to see him and so glad to see him all I could see was my husband."

In reply to questions by Jules Deschenes, counsel for the federal government, Mrs. Rivard said she did nothing to raise bail for her husband when he was arrested last February. Lechasseur had looked after this and a Mr. Brochu, who had a restaurant and a brother, who was an alderman, had put up the bail money.

There was no testimony at this point about what charge Rivard was arrested on in February.

Mr. Deschenes asked whether there was a special reason for Mrs. Rivard to raise bail when her husband was arrested in June.

She said she found it all tiring, but it was natural for her to raise the bail.

She didn't remember whether Lechasseur had offered his services.

Mrs. Rivard said she was married to Rivard April 22, 1961.

MET IN DECEMBER

In reply to questions by commission counsel Desjardins, Mrs. Rivard said she and Lechasseur had a meeting in December with Masson after she had found out there would be an inquiry into the Rivard case.

felt he would have a good measure of support from his fellow officers and Tories in various provinces for a convention. He did not feel that his stand would open up any national French-English clash in the party.

If the executive agrees to Balcer's ultimatum a major crisis will have been averted in the party.

The night before the caucus a decision to pull away into an independent Quebec wing was all but fixed in the minds of at least four members.

Last night members of the same rebel wing made it clear that this feeling would be quickly revived and carried out if the conditions were not met.

They will caucus again before Feb. 16 to re-assess their positions.

One of the most positive statements from the new conference came from Montreal member George Valade who said:

WOULD BALCER RUN?

Balcer would not say whether he would consider running in any leadership convention.

He was asked what his stand would be if Diefenbaker contested such a convention and won. He declined to answer on the grounds that the question was "purely hypothetical," but stressed that there would be more than one person running for the party leadership.

What Balcer's communiqué did was:

• "Unanimously" agree to the letter to Camp asking for a date "for a national convention to decide on the party leadership."

• "Unanimously" support Balcer as Quebec Leader.

• "Unanimously" support the historic principles of the Macdonald-Cartier traditions of the Tory party.

• Recognize the "honest and sincere" measures initiated by the party to strengthen national unity.

• "Determine" to solve the party difficulties from within with the co-operation of Tory colleagues from other provinces.

They also want a review by the party of its policy and goals in the "spirit of Frederickton" where the Tories held their summer "thinkers" conference.

Balcer defined this "spirit" as a "very good expose of policy for a national party in regard to French-English relations."

RIVARD

HEARING

POSTPONED

MONTREAL (CP) — The case of Lucien Rivard, wanted in the United States to face charges of smuggling narcotics, was postponed today to next Friday.

The U.S. government seeks to extradite Rivard and three others.

Judge Francois Caron granted the postponement of arguments on the merits of a writ of habeas corpus after the defence argued it needs more time to consider the facts at stake.

He said final arguments definitely will be heard next Friday and judgment will be rendered "before the end of the month."

Nuclear Ban Drive Set By Johnson

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Lyndon Johnson asked Congress today for increased funds to step up U.S. efforts in the disarmament field.

Administration officials said Johnson would continue to press the Soviet Union for agreements to curb spread of nuclear weapons to more nations, limit certain military production and broaden the nuclear test ban.

In a special message to Congress the president asked for a four-year authorization of $5 million to run the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency (ACDA).

Congress gave the agency $9 million for the current year, although the administration had requested $15 million. The new funds would be for fiscal year 1966, which begins next July 1, through fiscal 1969.

FULTON MUM ON DIF CHALLENGE

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP) — Davie Fulton, leader of the British Columbia Progressive Conservative party, said Thursday night he has "not very much" reaction to Leon Balcer's proposal for a national party leadership convention.

Mr. Balcer, Quebec Conservative leader, said in Ottawa earlier he wants a convention to discuss the leadership of John Diefenbaker.

"Mr. Balcer has put it to the national executive, and it is not going to help for individuals to comment," said Mr. Fulton.

"I hope that when the decision is taken at the national executive level, it will be such as to restore unity in the party."

"This is a party, not a collection of individuals."

U.S. Pushing Showdown Over UN Fees

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — The United States is preparing for a confrontation with Russia on the U.N. financial issue and is lining up support for a general assembly vote, informed sources said today.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson met for two hours Thursday with the 21-nation

Latin American group. The meeting's chairman, Sergio Sepúlveda, of Chile, said he discussed the crisis and the "grave and serious" consequences if the Soviets continue to refuse payment of their U.N. debts.

The sources said Stevenson told the Latin Americans the United States is ready to confront the Russians in the general assembly "in order to assure the future of the world organization—its moral and financial solvency."

U.S. officials would make no comment on the possibility of a confrontation or the degree of backing the United States could expect if it tried to force the Soviets to choose between payment of their U.N. debts or loss of their general assembly vote.

But there was a growing movement among other delegations to head off such an East-West collision. Many diplomats feared it might cause a Soviet walkout and signal the breakup of the United Nations.

Many smaller nations were backing a plan to adjourn the general assembly shortly after it reconvenes Monday. A few items of necessary business would be transacted first. Then the whole business of the United Nations would be put off until September.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Stocks Continue Upward

Stock markets continued on higher ground today in moderate trading. In New York, the exchange came close to setting a record in the Dow Jones industrial averages.

In Vancouver, the noon close of business, losses outnumbered gains in moderately active trade.

Dundee dropped 10 to 14 cents on $2,000 shares. Giant Metals declined 5 cents to $1.70. Textile lost 4 to 70 cents, Texore dropped 5 to 37 cents and Torwest went down 5 cents to $1.05.

Midwest Mines increased 4 to 40 cents and Endako rose 4 to $15.75. Cassiar Asbestos gained 1 to $13.50.

For the day was estimated at 5,300,000 shares compared with 5,800,000 Thursday.

A 3-point gain by Kennecott was accompanied by rumors of a mineral find in Canada. Sharing in the same rumor, Hudson Bay Mining held a gain of more than 2 after being up about 5.

Pitney-Bowes, up a fraction, looked like the volume leader. A strong Canadian issuer, Hudson Bay Mining's gain of 2 1/2 continued to be the big feature. Dome Mines was up 1/2. International Nickel 1 1/2 and Walker Gooderham 1/2.

Aluminum Ltd. was down 1/2 and McIntyre Porcupine 1/2.

Some domestic banks were firm but Canadian issues eased, including Bank of Montreal, Toronto-Dominion and Royal Bank of Canada.

Steels were wanted. There was a firm tone among industrials.

Steel Build-Up On

DETROIT (UPI) — The U.S. auto industry hopes to have a 60-day supply of steel—nearly two million tons—on hand by May 1 to protect against a possible steel strike.

The United Steelworkers Union can strike on that date if no contract settlement has been reached with the industry.

Arthur Mayse

As interest in what lies west around the Vancouver Island corner increases, there are encouraging signs that hiking for pleasure may be in for a considerable revival.

I hope our recreation people will encourage this trend by clearing old trails and establishing new ones, preferably with overnight campsites where the foot-slogger can throw up a lightweight tent or plastic roof.

Better still, on the more travelled trails, would be a spaced string of permanent shelters... not cabins, but merely open-front shake lean-tos with stone fire-places in front.

More luxury than that, a hiker doesn't need. His essentials are a lightweight sleeping bag and tarp, a pack-rig adequate for a load much less heavy than he thinks he can carry, and a good pair of boots.

Of these, the boots are the most important item. An army may march on its stomach, but a hiker poorly shod courts tribulation that may develop into serious trouble.

An infected heel-blister or an ankle twisted a long way from the roads can, at the very least, ruin a trip not only for the victim but for his companions.

In the course of walking a great many miles for pleasure and pay, I have acquired some firm likes and dislikes in this matter of hiking footwear.

Running shoes, as far as I'm concerned, are useless except for dry-rock climbing, or an easy, unobstructed trail.

Lace-up rubber boots are fine in wet snow or on short hauls, but tend to parboil feet cased in wool socks, which are the only kind a hiker should consider. (If wool irritates your skin, wear silk or light nylon underneath.)

This narrows my field to leather; a preference which I share with most who work or play outdoors.

Among the less expensive boots, the ankle-high army-type with non-skid sole is hard to beat. Warm a good coat of dubbin into these before a trip and they keep the feet dry through any reasonable going.

I also like the eastern shoe-pac type with an authentic moccasin vamp — not the cheap imitation which breaks its seams under stress — and a solid leather sole peppered with small cone-headed hobnails. Add three loggers' caulkers in each instep, and you have a satisfactory all-round boot.

A warning here, though: in any boot you buy, make sure the top isn't so high that it binds the calf. On a steep grade, nothing takes the spunk out of a hiker more speedily than a pair of 16-inch boot-tops constricting his muscles with every stride. Unless you travel where rattlesnakes abound, avoid those stovepipe tops like the plague.

My own choice — damnably expensive, I'm sorry to say — is the logging boot developed to meet the specialized requirements of our coast woods.

Its double vamp construction makes it waterproof as any boot stitched from leather can or should be. The shaped heel doesn't drag or catch, a virtue important to men whose trade allows few missteps.

Also, for traction under most conditions a woods-walker will encounter, I have found nothing more dependable than a set of properly spaced caulkers, especially when these have scuffed enough rock to blunt their points.

One stream-crossing on a slippery log will demonstrate my point.

Some people find "caulked shoes" heavy, and it's well to specify light cruisers if you ever invest in a pair. Also, the soles, if caulked, ball up quickly in snow.

Even so, the best boots I buy will be light cruisers with eight or perhaps ten-inch tops and regulation false tongues fringed with leather inserted under the lacing to prevent vines and brush from catching.

Boots of any type must be large enough so that the feet can expand comfortably under the weight of a pack; and for my own convenience and my learn from some coast how to tie 'em with the knot.

Topics of the Day

The wets outnumbered the dries in mail reaching city hall today on the subject of a proposed bar in McPherson Playhouse.

To date, the prohibitionists far exceed those in favor of drinking in the intermission — an estimated 1,300 names on 14 petitions.

But today there were nine letters from individuals opposing liquor, seven letters in favor of a liquor licence, and two petitions approving the idea, with a total 32 names.

A Summerland youth, George B. Holmes, 18, was fined $50 in court Thursday for pushing a second youth through a plate glass restaurant window during a fight.

The second youth, John Henderson, 142 Linden, who pleaded not guilty to a charge of causing a disturbance, received face and leg cuts when he went through the four-by-eight-foot window Jan. 5.

He is to appear for trial Jan. 27.

A 19-year-old youth pleaded guilty in Saanich court this morning to contributing to the juvenile delinquency of a 14-year-old girl.

George W. Barnard will be sentenced for the offence Jan. 22.

Vancouver Island Dog Fan-club Association will present a sanction show Sunday at the OCF Hall on Douglas Street.

Entries will be received from 12:45 to 1:45 p.m. Handling Classes start at 1:30. The show begins at 2 p.m. A parade of champions will take place at 2:45 p.m.

Further information is available by phoning 385-6335.

The younger section of the junior branch of the Victoria Natural History Society will meet on Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at the Monterey parking lot for a field trip to Rithets Hill, Royal Oak.

If weather is bad the meeting will be held at the Nature House at Francis Park.

Dime Parking at Hospital?

Visitors to Royal Jubilee Hospital and the daily load of 1,250 staff and doctors may soon be paying for their parking.

As part of the long-range hospital development program, Jubilee board of directors will consider proposals for the enlargement and regulation of parking facilities.

A special survey was conducted recently and recommendations are expected to include controlled parking for visitors on an hourly basis, perhaps at 10 cents an hour.

Doctors and staff may be charged monthly rental fee as at St. Joseph's Hospital and others in the province.

It is probable that Jubilee's own administration would operate pay-parking facilities, like the Royal Columbian at New Westminster and St. Paul's Hospital, Vancouver. A private tenderer has Vancouver General Hospital's parking concession, which starts at 35 cents the first hour.

WILLIAM CANN... extension

Permanent Commission

F/L William R. Cann of Victoria, has been granted a permanent commission in the RCAF, Air Defence Command headquarters announced today.

He was previously serving as a short-service commissioned officer.

A permanent commission is an extension of a serviceman's career until he reaches a specified retirement age which is governed by his rank.

F/L Cann was born and educated here and joined the RCAF in 1954. A year later he received his navigator's wings.

He has served at RCAF stations Holberg, V.I.; Falconbridge, Ont.; Senneterre, Que.; Site PIN (DEW line), N.W.T., and is currently posted as public relations officer of Beausejour, Man., radar station.

Thermopylae Club Names Veres

Capt. George A. Veres, managing director of McKay-Cor-mack Shipyard Ltd., was elected Wednesday as skipper of Victoria Thermopylae Club.

Other officers chosen at the club's annual meeting were Keith Alexander, first mate; C. W. Gorbey, second mate; Charles Tapping, purser, and W. G. Henning, supercargo.

The group will hold its annual dinner Jan. 25 at the Coach and Four restaurant.

Directors also will deal shortly with the recommended demolition of the 49-year-old isolation wing, a frame building formerly used as a tuberculosis pavilion at the rear of the hospital, and the former nurses' residence, a multi-story wooden building east of the hospital lawns on Fort Street.

This will mean relocating the isolation wing in the main hospital building or the children's ward, an adjoining concrete building, and putting the children's ward in the main building.

These are expected to tie in with long-range plans for a new wing on the main building, which is being accelerated to ward maximum use with the changes mentioned above.

It would also require relocation of classrooms for the 200 nursing students, and probably construction of a new school adjoining the nurses' residence where army huts stand.

Meanwhile, plans are being considered for construction of a new medical laboratory and new boiler room to serve the hospital complex.

'Canadians Far From Blameless' On Discrimination Says Thorson

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Canada is far from being free of racial discrimination, Hon. J. T. Thorson, president of the Canadian Citizenship Council, said here today.

"There is still discrimination against Negroes and other Canadians whose skins are not white, and there is a strong anti-Semitic sentiment in several parts of Canada."

Visiting here from his headquarters in Ottawa, Mr. Thorson was addressing a luncheon meeting of the Greater Victoria Citizenship Council at the Empress Hotel.

He urged that the national council should co-operate with local citizenship councils in trying to stamp out racial and religious discrimination in all provinces.

"We must realize there is no superior race and no basic difference between the human beings who constitute the Canadian nation."

Mr. Thorson condemned "frequent reference" to the two founding races of Canada as French Canadians and English Canadians.

"This is erroneous... Canada is a land whose citizens are of many origins. Approximately 45 per cent of them are of British origin and approximately 30 per cent are of French origin."

"The remaining 25 per cent are of origins that are neither British nor French."

Formerly president of the International Congress of Jurists and the Exchequer Court of Canada, Mr. Thorson said Canadians rightly condemn discrimination in other lands but are far from blameless themselves.

"It is true that substantial progress has been made in recent years in reducing the scourge of racial discrimination in such matters as housing and employment."

"Ontario has led the way in legislation such as the Ontario Human Rights Code dealing with fair employment practices, equal pay for women, fair accommodation practices and housing."

"British Columbia has dealt with these matters except as to housing, but has recently passed legislation directed against discrimination in employment because of age."

Mr. Thorson said there is no such legislation in Newfoundland, and both Alberta and Prince Edward Island "lag behind" except that each has passed legislation providing equal pay for women.

He urged equality of status for Indians and Eskimos as citizens of Canada and said all Canadians should be ready and willing to accept them on that basis.

'Ill-Gotten Gains, My Eye!' — Wilson

Municipal transit subsidy would mean increased taxation, Mayor R. B. Wilson pointed out today in reply to the premier's reference to "ill-gotten" franchise payments to the city by B.C. Hydro.

"There is no assurance that increased bus fares will give us a greater return. If we are to assume some of the Hydro responsibility toward passengers by subsidizing buses, there is only one source of funds and that is increased taxation," the mayor said.

"The only rich government in the province is the provincial government."

"I think we can assume, too, that there is more than $22,000 worth of damage to streets in a year, so there's no profit in it for us."

Bus Fares Causing 'Economic Shut-Ins'

Senior citizens' homes in Greater Victoria are expecting serious cases of "economic shut-ins" as a result of bus fare increases.

Mrs. V. L. Hawkins, administrator of Kiwanis Villa, said today most of the 52 residents are "just staying at home because they can't afford to go anywhere."

Residents of Sunset Lodge, 952 Arm, are in the same position, but to a lesser extent because they have been staying inside because of poor weather recently.

Mrs. Katherine Horne, executive director of the Silver Threads Service, said pensioners will now be restricted to using the bus only two or three times a month.

"The increased bus fares are going to change the framework of their whole existence," she said.

"Before the increases their budgets usually allowed them to use the bus twice a week for going downtown or visiting relatives."

"The pensioners only receive between $75 and $99 per month and once their rent, food and clothing expenses are deducted there is little left for transportation which has now become a major cost."

"The city and the government are currently building them a beautiful activity centre in Centennial Square which they will be unable to get to," said Mrs. Horne.

"Some of these people are disabled physically so walking, even two or three blocks, is out of the question."

"They can lead a pretty lonely existence if they are shut up in one room," she said.

Officials at Rose Manor are expecting a serious problem with shut-ins once the weather turns warm and the residents want to get out of their rooms.

Brigadier V. C. Underhill, superintendent of the Salvation Army's Matson Lodge, said today after the pensioners pay their $84 per month for room and board "there is precious little for transportation."

"Every little bit helps," he said.

'Bargain' Rates Start Monday

Student fares at 10 tickets for $1 become effective on Victoria buses Monday.

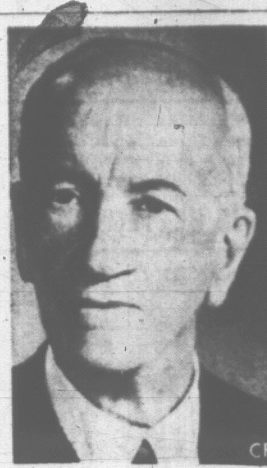

They will be acceptable only on school days between 7 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Mr. Thorson spoke of the nation-wide campaign initiated by the Canadian Citizenship Council last December to advance the cause of human rights, and the publication of its Declaration of Objective and National Purpose.

He defined the council as a "voluntary, non-governmental organization concerned with the advancement of good citizenship," founded in 1940 as the Canadian Council of Education for Citizenship.

Mr. Thorson is on a public speaking tour of Canada accompanied by Alan Clarke, executive director of the Canadian Citizenship Council in Ottawa.

Sewer Plans In Saanich Face Protest

The city of Victoria will fight a Saanich application to spill more sewage into the Colquitz River-Gorge waterway as part of a North Ridge subdivision expansion.

"We opposed this before," said Mayor R. B. Wilson, confirming that Victoria would instruct its solicitor T. P. O'Grady to object to any increase in the flow of treated sewage into the natural waterway.

He referred to the previous agreement that allows Saanich to put treated sewage into Colquitz at Carey Road, a volume of up to 35,000 gallons daily, approved before Greater Victoria came under jurisdiction of the provincial pollution control board.

Now, the Saanich application to double capacity of the treatment plant must have the sanction of the pollution control board.

It is expected the board will disallow the application in view of the forthcoming metropolitan sewage study, or refer it to a public hearing.

MEETING DUE

The board's course will be decided at a meeting late this month or early in February.

"I don't think it is in the public interest to dump sewage into the Gorge. That's what sewers are for," Mayor Wilson said.

The sentiment is echoed by Ald. Geoffrey Edgewood, chairman of Gorge Waterway Improvement Association.

He said it has taken years for the municipality of Esquimalt, Victoria and Saanich to agree to discontinue putting raw sewage into the Gorge, resulting finally in its being approved for swimming.

END OF GORGE

To increase the amount of effluent going into the Gorge can only have a detrimental effect on it as a natural beauty spot suitable for recreation purposes, he feels.

"It could mean the end of the Gorge," Ald. Edgewood said.

Objections to the Saanich application should be made to the municipal clerk by Monday, deadline for a 30-day waiting period.

New Group To Control Recreation?

All municipal recreation facilities excepting playgrounds are expected to come under control of a new committee of city council.

Ald. A. W. Toone Thursday said recreation and community services advisory committee, of which he is chairman, suggests its advisory role be ended, enabling it to be a working committee of council.

In this role it is anticipated that McPherson Playhouse, senior citizens' recreation centre, Royal Athletic Park, Memorial Arena, Crystal Garden and Macdonald Park, to name the major facilities, would come under the committee's jurisdiction.

Centennial Square and Crystal Garden are the only ones dealt with by the committee as it stands.

Look Daggers At Taggers, You Waggers!

By TERRY IZZARD

Is yours one of those houses blessed by the pitter-patter of tiny feet?

Does the postman look a little more apprehensive each time he calls?

Has your weekly food bill begun to soar over the past few months?

If the answer to all these questions is "Yes" then the chances are you're now the proud slave of a bouncing dog. But take heed!

Your troubles are just beginning.

In the near future the soft padding of your new-found pleasure across the living room rug could turn to the crunch-crunch of the dog inspector mounting the drive.

TWO CHANCES

When his insistent knock finally pierces the quiet of your home you'll know you have two chances:

To bustle the innocent looking mutt out the back door, or dig into your wallet.

This will be no courtesy call. The man from the SPCA is after your money.

Hard as it may seem, that Christmas bundle of fluff is going to cost you between $3 and $10.

And he's going to go on costing you that each year until he passes on to the land of eternal lamp posts.

Big or small, fat or thin, polished or tatty; these are the licensing fees set on your pet's head.

And this is the time of year you're likely to be collared.

TWO HIRED

As in past years the SPCA is taking on two men to hound the trails of money-shy dog lovers in Greater Victoria.

Once again they will prowl each block and side alley, sniffing out would-be offenders.

When they eventually run those offenders to ground it will be a matter of "Pay up or else."

The "or else" bit could mean a $5 or $10 fine, plus the cost of a licence.

SPCA chief David Beeching warns that Victoria residents have until March 1 to pay their dues.

After that the cost for a male will rise from $4 to $5; for a female from $3 to $4.

Costs in neighboring municipalities vary slightly.

If you're thinking of slipping Bonzo over to Granny's for a few weeks... forget it.

These collectors can smell a dog a mile off.

At least Mr. Beeching claims they have a near-foolproof way of tracking down canines... all 5,000 of them in Victoria, Oak Bay and Esquimalt.

So beware of the dog (collector).

"JUST MY DOGGONE LUCK to get caught by the licensing inspector. Wish those owners of mine would hurry and pay out their $4." The little fellow needn't worry just yet though. He's safe until March 1.

MOONIE COMMITTED

A 21-year-old Saanich man was formally committed for trial this morning on the charge of non-capital murder of his father.

Gary Moonie, 170 Hartland, was taken into formal custody after the committal.

Mr. Justice J. G. Rutan continued bail of $5,000.

Gary Moonie was charged following the shooting of his father, Al Moonie, at the family home Nov. 28.

SKI REPORT

Skiers were planning today for their first weekend trip of the new year to the Green Mountain Lodge.

Access roads in the Nainina Lakes area were finally cleared to K 30 this morning by a snow blower. However, drivers are advised to carry chains.

Sno Birds Ski Club officials at noon reported sunny skies, 45-degree temperature and 80 inches of well-packed snow.

They said three tows will be in operation over the weekend and a snowmobile will be running to the lodge.

Ask The Times

Q. Can a person obtain a marriage licence and be married the same day in the state of Washington, U.S.A.? R.R.

A. No. Applicants for a marriage licence in Washington State must wait three days, not counting the date of application, before a marriage licence may be issued.

Q. Would you please tell me why the Hanes Sisters are not on Country Hoedown anymore and why Gordie Tapp doesn't say so? M.P.

A. The Hanes Sisters no longer appear on CBC's Country Hoedown because they were not satisfied with the contract offered them this season.

It is not customary for contractual differences to be aired on a television show.

INSIDE POLITICS

With Douglas Fisher, M.P.

Let's make this a series of impertinent questions to Mr. Pearson. You can join with me in wondering how he would answer them.

● Has Mr. Pearson thought over the reason why the Lamontagne furniture deal hit so many Canadians dead-centre? If so, he may recognize that the citizens' reaction was one of shock that a politician was getting the kind of deal that he and his like could never get. Therefore, Mr. Pearson might ask: "Isn't there some fool-proof way Lamontagne could prove it was a legitimate business deal, without any strings?"

Does the PM know that when items such as furniture are bought, and delivered in Ontario (as furniture was delivered to Mr. Lamontagne in Ottawa) provincial law requires that the sales tax be recorded?

If Mr. Lamontagne paid the sales tax or if it was noted on the invoices at the delivery time, wouldn't it be clear that the whole deal was straightforward? Of course, if he did not pay the sales tax, well... then the PM might ask himself whether anyone would go to the trouble of looking through the provincial sales tax records?

● Why doesn't Mr. Pearson take the initiative, before he is finally levered into it, and appear as a witness at the Dorion inquiry? Won't he have to come, sooner or later? Has Mr. Pearson looked at the terms of reference his own government gave the inquiry? Has he wondered how a judge could "...inquire fully into the manner in which the Department of Justice and the Minister of Justice dealt with the allegations when they were brought to their attention" without hearing from the Prime Minister? Surely the PM knows a judge is not the person — he, the PM is the person — who must judge the judgment and methods used by Guy Favreau.

Would Mr. Pearson want Judge Dorion commenting on the political and executive efficacy and adequacy of Favreau's action without an explanation from Favreau's boss on the kind of consultation and reporting he demands from his ministers and the kind of confidence he felt in Favreau on this case?

● Would the Prime Minister re-read the script of his year-end press conference, particularly the following statement which he made with such seriousness and care: "If you are really concerned about a clean house you do not go around wildly swinging a broom and throwing rugs out of the window because somebody says there may be some dirt somewhere."

Did he say this just in order to appear the fair-minded leader of men, one who would not be panicked into summary treatment of any of his followers by unproven allegations? Or did he mean it? If he meant it as a position of principle, not a political sham, why did he not extend the same grace to his ex-parliamentary secretary, Guy Rouleau, MP? Who did the prejudging here? Was it the villainous, smearing opposition chaps like Erik Nielson?

Did the PM demand Rouleau's resignation as his secretary? If he did, on what grounds? If he thought they were substantial, why is Rouleau still holding the important office of Liberal party caucus chairman? Why is Rouleau good enough to be an MP and the caucus leader and not good enough to be the PM's secretary?

If the PM did not ask for Rouleau's resignation, why did he ever accept it? Has anything been proven yet about Rouleau? Has the PM ever heard of the unfairness of using a double standard in judging people? Why has he stood so nobly and patiently and loyally by his ministers and not behind Rouleau? Does Mr. Pearson remember how angry he was years ago over what happened to his friend, Herbert Norman, when that man was prejudged a Communist by some American politicians? Who, but Lester Pearson, prejudged Guy Rouleau?

● Does the PM remember the editorial reaction, which may have reflected the public's reaction, to his wandering through the Prairies while the Rivard case agitated his colleagues and the House? If he does, can he see any analogy at all to the news that he was holidaying in Florida and therefore had to renege on the invitation he accepted to participate at the anniversary commemoration in Kingston to Sir John A.? Has he forgotten how strained the feelings are towards him in much of Ontario, particularly in those parts and with those people who have a sense of tradition and heritage? Has he thought that his absence put an unfair onus on the Conservatives and even onto the memory of our first Prime Minister? Doesn't it tend to make grand, old Sir John seem just a party, a Tory figure? Does the PM as an ex-history teacher ever wonder on why we fail in Canada to develop sturdy myths and a reverence for our great men of the past? Perhaps he can console himself that he did make that Liberal convention out in Regina in November, keeping his commitment, even though some people thought he should have been somewhere else.

● It is likely that Mr. Pearson has considered the question of whether he is a more suitable prime minister for Canada than Mr. Diefenbaker and concluded that he was. No one, it seems to me, would doubt that Mr. Pearson had the right as a good partisan for the Liberal cause to reach such a conclusion. But has Mr. Pearson asked the question of himself: "Isn't there one, perhaps more than one, Liberal who would make a more suitable prime minister for Canada than me?"

Why doesn't he be impertinent with himself?

HEALTH OF UN

Crisis Not Fatal But Scars Likely

By MAX HARRELSON

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—There's a lot of talk about the precarious state of the United Nations' health, but the prevalent prognosis at headquarters is that the patient will live.

Most UN diplomats believe that neither a U.S.-Soviet showdown on peace-keeping assessments nor the withdrawal of Indonesia from the world organization will be fatal. But there may be some scars.

The United Nations was given up for dead several times in the past but made surprising recoveries.

This happened in 1950 when the Russians began a general boycott of UN meetings in an attempt to force the seating of China; it happened again in 1956 at the time of the Hungarian and Suez crises.

Other critical periods for the organization were in 1960 when Nikita Khrushchev launched his so-called "troika" plan to replace the secretary-general with a three-man executive group, and in 1961 when Dag Hammarskjöld was killed in an African plane crash.

GLOOM SETTLED

Each time gloom settled over UN headquarters, dire predictions were heard, just as now. Some of the more pessimistic are recalling events leading to the collapse of the League of Nations and noting certain similarities.

They could be right. But a majority of UN diplomats diagnose the case this way:

If the General Assembly votes to uphold the U.S. position and suspend the voting rights of the Soviet Union, France and 16 other countries, there may be walkouts and other gestures of protest. But there will be no mass withdrawal from the United Nations.

If the Russians win, the United States would be embarrassed and might even cut its financial support of the UN to some extent. But it would not go so far as to wreck the organization.

One indication that the Russians do not expect the UN to collapse is the fact that they have made two contributions in the last four weeks totalling $5,000,000. They might have held off if they had been expecting to withdraw.

SHOWED STRENGTH

In some ways the organization has shown signs of strength in the midst of the current crisis. Many of its specialized agencies continue to expand and have launched ambitious plans for the future. UN membership continues to grow. Last month three new countries were admitted.

The crisis over peacekeeping assessments is more political than monetary. It's a case of the United States and the Soviet Union taking opposite positions on whether the assembly must suspend the voting rights of countries two years behind in paying assessments.

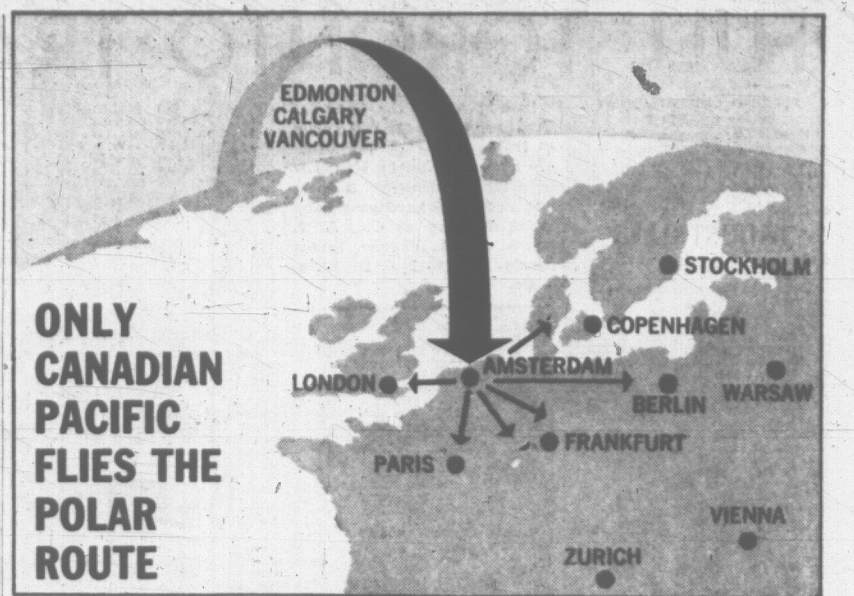

The financial position of the United Nations, while shaky, is not as bad as it was when the organization was pouring $10,000,000 a month into The Congo operation. The pressure was eased in part by the end of The Congo operation and by the $200,000,000 UN bond issue two years ago. The current deficit is $86,000,000 compared to $127,000,000 at the end of 1963.

WEEKEND WEATHER PICTURE ACROSS CANADA

SYNOPSIS—A ridge of high pressure has built over the southern half of B.C. and will force the path of the migrating Pacific storms well to the north of the province. As a result, no precipitation is expected for the next few days except for some drizzle in coastal areas. Skies generally will be cloudy in low lying areas both in the interior and along the coast, but there will be considerable sunshine at higher elevations.

Commercial 'Creeping' Turned Down

Oak Bay zoning and planning committee Tuesday evening turned down an application to change zoning of a lot on Hampshire Road from residential to commercial.

The lot is just south of Oak Bay Avenue. The application was made by Mr. and Mrs. Donald H. Mark, 1447 Hampshire. Committee decided it didn't want commercial ventures creeping down side streets off Oak Bay Ave.

Plans were to convert the lower floor of a dwelling into a beauty salon and use the upper storey for an apartment.

Committee will also recommend to council at its Monday meeting a resolution to prohibit establishment of professional offices in residential zones.

PAT BAY 'GOOD HIGHWAY'

Oak Bay Adds New Projects For Winter

Four new projects valued at $64,000 have been added to Oak Bay's current program of winter work.

This brings the gross value of the municipality's winter works to $384,000.

Heading the list is a boulevard sprinkling system extension valued at $25,000. Federal government share is $4,000.

In this fourth year of a seven-year program, sprinklers will be extended to Rutland, Florence, Roslyn, and parts of Newport and Oliver.

12-INCH MAINS

Two thousand feet of 12-inch water main will be installed in the Margate-Beach area at a cost of $23,000, with Ottawa adding a grant of $4,000.

Blacktopping of Oak Bay Marina parking lot at a cost of $11,000 is also included, with Ottawa paying $2,000. The project will provide parking for 150 more cars.

Other new project is a $5,000 lighting program for Cedar Hill Cross Road from Henderson to Gordon Head which will link up with a Saanich project.

B.C. Automobile Association's request Thursday for a four-lane express route from Swartz Bay to Victoria failed to impress Premier Bennett.

"He told us that it (Patricia Bay Highway) is a good highway and it only takes 32 minutes to come in" from the ferry terminal, BCAA president E. A. Adams reported.

The premier made his remarks to a delegation that met the cabinet with the annual BCAA brief.

TIME TO STUDY

Mr. Adams said Mr. Gagliardi made no comment on the association's freeway proposal except that he needed time to study them.

The delegation pressed the point that "a 60-m.p.h. two-lane highway, with many motorists hurrying to catch a ferry, is not a good thing," said Mr. Adams.

Among other requests, the association asked the cabinet to consider providing restroom and restaurant facilities at Swartz Bay and other government ferry terminals outside the fenced enclosures for patrons for the convenience of persons meeting the ferries.

Suicide Barrier

PARIS (AP)—The Paris city council ordered barriers put up on the Eiffel Tower Thursday to prevent suicides.

Wall Across Berlin May Be Electrified

BERLIN (AP)—The East German Communists appear to be testing the feasibility of ringing West Berlin with an electrified fence to make escape more difficult.

West Berlin police sources said today that stretches of electrified fence have been built at six different locations around the western half of the city.

The sixth stretch was completed Wednesday in downtown Berlin, along the wall where last September a refugee was severely wounded by Red gun fire. He was rescued by a U.S. military policeman.

The section is more than 700 feet long and about six feet high. Fourteen wires are strung one above the other, each fastened to white porcelain insulators attached to wooden posts.

A West Berlin police spokesman said the insulators holding the wires were too small to carry high tension lines. He suggested the wires might not be charged with a voltage strong enough to kill but could serve to trigger alarms.

Allied officials said they believed the fences were being built to test whether it is feasible to put them around the entire city.

Chief Hassle Handed Back To Full Council

The Saanich fire chief hassle was handed back to council by the municipal fire committee Thursday.

The committee did not come to a decision on confirmation or denial of fire chief Joseph Sutherland's six-month probationary appointment which expired Dec. 31.

Committee chairman Coun. Gregory Cook said the matter will be on council's agenda Monday night.

$10,000 DINNER SET TO MARK BENNETT FEAT

VANCOUVER (CP)—A dinner to honor Premier W. A. C. Bennett's record tenure as B.C. premier will be held here Feb. 17.

A spokesman for the committee organizing the dinner says the $10-a-plate affair will have Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes as honorary chairman, and former Lieutenant-Governors Clarence Wallace and Frank Ross as honorary vice-chairmen, along with Vancouver's Mayor William Rathie.

About 1,000 persons are expected to attend. Organizing the dinner is a representative, non-political committee headed by co-chairman George Cunningham and Allan McGavin.

Noted Author Heeds California's Call

Prize-winning author George Cuomo of University of Victoria English department leaves in September for a post at a new California college.

He will be a professor of English at California State College at Hayward, a college of about 3,000 students, and will be responsible for setting up a creative writing program.

Mr. Cuomo, 35, who published two books since coming to Victoria in 1961, said he leaves with regret.

"I have no dissatisfaction with the university... Roger Bishop (head of the English department) has been a tremendous chairman."

CALL OF THE CITY

He said he and his wife and young family are "really leaving because we want to live near San Francisco. It has been a lure for a long time."

Hayward is located about 20 miles east of the city, across San Francisco Bay.

Mr. Cuomo said there was no "flouring away" by a rival university, although the English department considers offers to members of the faculty from competing universities a real problem.

Mr. Cuomo, a native of New York City, has been employed by a number of American universities and colleges, has done newspaper and advertising work and has written short stories, novels, plays and poetry.

His two works published since coming here are Jack Be Nimble, based on a small-town col-

Big Collectors Hit In Coin Lack

OTTAWA (CP)—Opposition Leader Diefenbaker said Thursday he will raise in Parliament complaints from some Canadian coin collectors and citizens that they have been unable to obtain mint sets of unrecirculated 1965 coins.

He said in a prepared statement he wants to make sure that Canadians are not "discriminated" against in favor of a few large coin collectors, particularly those in the United States.

CHURCHILL

conference between him, Roosevelt and Stalin, Churchill was hit with pneumonia which almost ended his life.

He recovered, but was struck with pneumonia again, this time accompanied by pleurisy, while vacationing in France in 1958.

Again he came close to death and members of his family hurried to him from all parts of the world.

But after a two-week battle, Churchill again defeated his illness and recovered sufficiently to sit up in bed and smoke one of his famous cigars.

He remained active and fit and retained his parliamentary seat in the 1959 general election. Then in June, 1962, he slipped and fractured a thigh bone while on vacation in Monte Carlo.

Again, his tough constitution pulled him through two operations and complications. By the end of that August he was back in his London home.

But increasing age and infirmity forced him to announce his retirement in 1963. He did not run for re-election in the general elections last October.

The word of Churchill's illness appeared to spread slowly today. One little girl, Mary Rutherford, appeared on the scene with her tiny brother.

"Did you come to ask about Sir Winston?" she was asked.

"We came to see what was up," she replied.

MAN KNOCKED UNCONSCIOUS IN CAR FLIP

CROFTON—Douglas Robert MacPherson, of Crofton, escaped serious injury today when his car turned over on Crofton Road.

The car was a total wreck. MacPherson was knocked unconscious and was given emergency oxygen treatment at the first aid room of BC Forest Products Crofton mill.

He was taken to Chemainus General Hospital and released after a check-up.

SNOW STILL STYMIES DUNCAN'S DIVOTEERS

By DON DINGWALL
 Cowichan gold course is strictly for the birdies.

It looks like staying that way, until its white winter coat—all 18 inches of it—is gone.

As things stand that could be the end of the month.

GOOD REST

He is greenskeeper Tom Baldwin.

He said: "I'm hoping the snow will do far more good than harm."

"Usually the course has tremendous traffic on it throughout the winter and it takes time for the grass to recover."

"This snow will give the course a good rest."

Right now the nine-hole course doesn't look at all like the sun-drenched place where Victoria's young Dick Munn, Cedar Hill pro, set an 18-hole course record of 65.

Nor could you imagine club pro Mel Evans shooting birdies and eagles on his way to a 31.

These scores must be measured against the fact that Victoria club pros rate the Cowichan course one of the toughest nine-hole tests on the Island.

The executive is looking to the future . . . to the day when Cowichan can boast a full 18-hole layout.

Improvements last year included installation of deep sand bunkers. They may have improved the course but certainly not the scores.

A $6,000 pro shop also was built.

Members are well on their way to owning the course outright.

The directors have undertaken to buy the outstanding debentures at the rate of $3,000 a year.

CRASH BREAKS DRIVER'S RIBS

LADYSMITH — Harold T. Craig of Ladysmith, was taken to hospital with cracked ribs Wednesday night following a two-car collision.

B.C.—Wide Takeover Asked For Transit

COBBLE HILL—The Public Utilities Commission will be asked to hear a Mill Bay-Cobble Hill delegation regarding lack of bus services.

George Bonner, of Cobble Hill, said Thursday the delegation will suggest a government takeover of all public transportation in the province.

Mr. Bonner said the discontinuance of the bus service via the Old Island Highway has caused hardship, particularly to older people.

The delegation will include: Steve Dougan, Mrs. William Armstrong, Mrs. Charles Blake, Mrs. A. S. Hamer and Mrs. M. A. Branson.

A big car ride
 used to cost a big car price
 ...until Dodge!

Dodge Monaco Two-door Hardtop with bucket seats and console

DODGE '65
 for your money!

Dodge for '65 gives you a big car ride, yet Dodge is priced right in line with the "standard-sized" cars. Dodge gives you a big 121-inch wheelbase to smooth out bumps. Dodge gives you a "Wide-Stance" wheel tread to stop swaying. Dodge gives you the solid, confident feel that used to be the exclusive property of the luxury cars.

Dodge gives you more. Dodge gives you exclusive Torsionaire suspension which also helps keep the car flat and level under all conditions. We call it "Velvet Ride". You'll call it "Great".

Test drive Dodge soon. Only then can you really see how much more Dodge gives you. In ride. In performance. In luxury. Dodge comes on big for '65. It's a lot of car. The most car in the popular-price field.
